GALE CROSSES FLORIDA WITH LIGHT DAMAGE

Hurricane Steadily Losing Strength During Its Movement Inland.

MIAMI, Fla. — (AP) — A weakened hurricane which breezed across the Florida peninsula this morning was expected to remain inland with continued movement over southeastern Georgia and South Carolina today and tonight although strong winds were indicated as far north as Atlantic City.

The federal storm warning service in a 7:15 a. m. (E.S.T.) advisory placed the storm a short distance west of Jacksonville and moving 30 to 35 miles an hour with greatly "decreased intensity."

Jacksonville had felt winds up to 45 miles an hour in gusts with lowest pressure 29.20, the advisory stated.

* * *

Centers At Tampa.

The hurricane with early winds reported as high as 125 miles an hour at the center entered the mouth of Tampa bay about midnight with great loss of intensity and moved across the state's rich citrus belt.

The 7:15 a. m. advisory stated the inland movement of the storm "will cause further loss of intensity, and gale winds near the storm center will gradually moderate today and tonight.

"Precaution against high tides and squally shifting winds should be continued on the Georgia coast and northward to Charleston and strong winds occasionally reaching gale force will be felt as far north as Atlantic City today," the advisory concluded.

Earlier advisories had indicated the storm would enter the Atlantic in the Jacksonville area and pick up intensity over the water with a possible threat to the thickly-populated east coast.

* * *

Begins to Die.

Apparently the howling storm began to die rapidly as it approached Florida's west coast yesterday. As late as 4 p. m. winds of 95 miles an hour were reported at the center. Fort Myers, which the storm missed by some 90 miles, had winds up to 56 miles an hour and gusts up to 80.

Police Chief E. A. Garner at Sarasota reported no damage at Sarasota, Bradenton, Puna Gorda or elsewhere along that area of the florida west coast.

Tampa, St. Petersburg and other centers in the Tampa bay area likewise reported no damage and very little wind.

Strongest winds, the warning service said, were in the area between Sebring and Orlando, a stretch of fine citrus groves. Orlando reported gusts of wind up to 70 miles an hour.

MAYOR SIGNS BILL FOR DAM

Board of Control to Act Tomorrow on Bids.

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn said today he had signed the $466,000 Clear Fork dam appropriation bill and that the board of control would meet tomorrow at 10 a. m. to "accept or reject" bids for the dam construction contract.

City council has appropriated $466,954, enough to enable the board to accept either Roger J. Au's bid of some $424,00 or John Hill's offer to build the dam for $464,000.

Construction is to start 15 days after a contract is let. It is to be completed 270 days later later.

Au's bid tops by some $124,000 the estimate on the dam's construction cost prepared by the Jennings-Lawrence company, project engineers.

FIRE SWEEPS STORE

PORTSMOUTH — (AP) — Fire swept two floors of the four-story Montgomery Ward store on Sixth street in the downtown section early today, causing a loss estimated at $200,000 by Acting Fire Chief Howard Kiebler. Fireman Luther Boling was injured when he fell through a hole in the second floor.

955 Voters Beat Final Deadline

A crew of eight board of elections workers was kept busy all day yesterday and until 9 o'clock last night as 955 persons visited the board's office to register or transfer their addresses for the right to vote Nov. 5.

When the deadline arrived, only a few persons remained in the office.

Clerk Walter Underwood said the 955 last day registrations and address transfers nearly quadrupled the number of voters who had visited the board in any other single day during the pre-election registration period. Friday, 262 registrants had been the previous high.

Registrations and transfers were spurred by efforts of organizations supporting the three-mill tax levy for teacher salary increases and the two-tenths mill recreation levy in Mansfield as well as by a vigorous "get-out-the-vote" effort on the part of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Total registrations and transfers in the last two weeks exceeded 2,300, Underwood said. An official count will not be made for some time.

CHINESE REDS REJECT TRUCE

Decision Weakens American Peace Efforts.

NANKING —(UP)— Gen. George C. Marshall, special American peace envoy, and U. S. Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart issued a joint statement today announcing that Communist headquarters had rejected the American proposal for a 10-day truce in China's burgeoning civil war.

A joint American statement said the Communist reply was delivered verbally by Communist spokesman Wang Ping-Nan, and that chief Communist negotiator Chou En-Lai had refused to return to Nanking for a resumption of peace negotiations.

Wang told Marshall and Stuart that any such truce "should be without a time limit." He said "previous experience" had taught the Communists that limited truce agreements were unsatisfactory.

"The proposal would seem to be a Nationalist strategic move unless government troops are withdrawn from their original positions, thus demonstrating sincerity," Wang said.

Wolf's Howl Inside House, Says Teacher

TOLEDO —(INS)— The Toledo board of education was faced today with a demand by teachers for an immediate $600-a-year salary increase and a "shutdown of schools" when funds are exhausted.

The demands were presented last night at a school board meeting. William Everhart, Libby high school teacher who acted as spokesman for the Toledo high school men's club, told the board:

"This matter has gone beyond the talking stage. Teachers absolutely cannot live on present salaries. The wolf is no longer at the door. He has his nose right inside."

Although voters will ballot on a one-mill school levy at the November election, Ford Weber, school board president, said that a $600 raise "definitely is not in the cards even if the levy passes."

Community Fund Quiz

QUESTION—Why do we have a Community Fund?

ANSWER — Because it is the simple, sensible and economic way to raise at one time, in one drive, the money needed by the 11 Red Feather agencies for annual operating expenses. It provides the systematic method of contributing to the welfare, health, recreational and character building programs of your city.

THEIR EFFORTS PAY OFF—Senior high school winners of the Community Fund poster contest received their winning checks yesterday from Elmer A. Eckert (left), publicity chairman of the campaign which opens Monday. Eckert hands the first prize check of $5 to Barbara Conner in the presence of second prize winner, Dan Cherwinski, who won $3, and Ruth Smith, third prize winner, who was awarded $2. The posters were judged Saturday by Eckert and J. L. MacLean, commercial artist. A total of 28 posters, made under the direction of Miss Mary Jane Bolus, Senior high art instructor, were turned in. The winning posters will be exhibited in the Madison theater lobby with other entries shown in the J. C. Penney company window throughout the drive. (News-Journal photos.)

FATE OF NAZIS BEFORE COUNCIL

Schacht Protests Rearrest For DeNazification Court.

BERLIN —(UP) —The fate of 16 Nazi leaders convicted at Nuernberg will be decided tomorrow when the Allied Control Council considers their appeals.

If the council rejects the appeals, as expected, Hermann Goering and the other 10 under death sentence will be hanged in Nuernberg Oct. 16. Rudolph Hess and the other six with prison sentences will be transferred to Berlin.

The 11 doomed men are cut off from all outside contact except visits from chaplains and psychiatrists. They spend most of their time in a "condemned row" in Nuernberg prison, lying or sitting on their cots in a state of "resigned depression," it was reported. They are reluctant to talk to anyone.

The fate of Hjalmar Schacht, one of the three acquitted leaders, continued in a muddle. Schacht spent the night in the Stuttgart city jail, under arrest for de-nazification proceedings while Stuttgart and Nuernberg city officials argued about which city would try him.

Schacht went to Stuttgart yesterday to visit a friend, apparently thinking he was immune from arrest until summoned before a de-nazification court. He was promptly arrested despite his protests.

Dr. Frederick Bergold, Schacht's attorney, said in Nuernberg that Stuttgart police have blocked his efforts to reach Schacht. Bergold said American military government officials gave Schacht assurance he would not be arrested in the American zone.

American security officers said they had warned Schacht the "free passage" order might not be good in Stuttgart.

Drive Starts to Plug Tax Leaks

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— A new drive to plug tax law loopholes has been started by the federal government.

The treasury and the joint congressional committee on internal revenue taxation, it was learned, have completed studies listing the various schemes that are being used to by-pass the tax collector. The data will be presented to the house ways and means committee when congress convenes in January and the committee is expected to call hearings on the subject.

Athletic Board Tells Band It Can't Help

The Senior High Band Parents' club, sponsor of the high school band, went before the Senior High Athletic association last night with a request for financial help and was told none will be available—at least not for a time.

A three-member club committee, accompanied by about 25 other club members and parents, met with the athletic board to request a share of the gate receipts at football games to give the band better equipment and enable it to make trips with the team.

But Harold W. Arlin, president of the athletic board, explained that financial obligations of the board in its stadium program made any help in the near future impossible.

R. G. Spitzer, chairman of the club's committee, pointed out that the band's annual "tag day" solicitation of funds will mean less revenue this year because it must be shared with another civic organization.

Shares Tag Day Funds.

"Sharing our tag day with another group will cut our receipts about 40 per cent and will put the band behind the financial eight ball. We feel that the band helps draw the public to the football games and should share in the gate receipts," Spitzer said.

Death Toll High In Korean Riots

SEOUL —(INS)— Reports today from scattered South Korean strike riots set the casualty toll from five days of violence at 73 killed and at least 37 injured.

Reports filtering into Seoul described a bloody riot in the Pusan area at the southern tip of the Korean peninsula where 24 Korean national police and rioters were killed and more than 29 other persons injured.

WARREN GIVEN CITY'S POWER

Six Other Cities Also Asked to Curtail Use.

The Mansfield plant of the Ohio Public Service company continued today to transmit electric power to industrial Warren and Niles.

Joy A. Herbert, OPS manager here, said the company also appealed to consumers in Elyria, Lorain, Sandusky, Port Clinton, Ashland and Alliance to conserve power after a strike of CIO Utility Workers in Warren forced industries to curtail production and lay off some workers.

The CIO utility workers struck yesterday to enforce demands for an 18-cent hourly pay increase.

Ohio Public Service serves about 150,000 outlets. Vice President M. W Thornes said at Cleveland. Of this number, more than 100,000 are affected by the plea for curtailed consumption.

Affected in the Warren-Niles area were approximately 70,000 residents and numerous industries. At least two plants—Republic Steel Corp. and the Thomas Steel Co.—laid off "dozens of workers" because of the power supply and suspended several finishing department operations.

LEAVES POST HERE TO TAKE MICHIGAN JOB

Plans to Stay in City Until Oct. 15, or His Successor Has Been Named.

Dr. W. B. Wild last night resigned his position as city-county health commissioner here to become a county health director in the Battle Creek, Mich., area.

He will work in cooperation with the Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek which helps finance health work in seven Michigan counties.

His resignation was accepted by Mansfield board of health. It is effective Oct. 15.

Dr. Wild said, however, that he will remain on duty beyond that date if his successor has not been named by then.

In his new position with the foundation, Dr. Wild said that he also will help to train students for masters degrees in all phases of health work and will do research work.

* * *

Joined Staff In 1940.

The 36-year-old, energetic health commissioner came to Mansfield in 1940 as assistant commissioner and succeeded the late Dr. R. C. Rehder in 1941 as commissioner.

He was responsible for many improvements in the child health program here and fought continually for improved sanitation facilities in the county area.

Among his accomplishments here was the fostering of compulsory immunization of Mansfield school children against diphtheria.

Dr. Wild returned to Mansfield last May following an eight-month leave of absence during which he received a master of public health degree at Johns Hopkins university school of hygiene and health.

* * *

Received Fellowship.

He was one of six health officers in the country to do graduate work there under a special fellowship.

A native of Little Rock, Ark., Dr. Wild served as coroner of Holmes county and practiced medicine in Holmesville before coming to Mansfield.

He said that he has been offered county health commissioner posts in 14 states, but accepted the foundation's offer because it afforded him the chance to do work he has "wanted to do for a long time."

He said that the Kellogg Foundation, a philanthropic institution cooperates with the University of Michigan, the state of Michigan and counties there in sponsoring various health programs.

POLICE SEEK 2

Hunt Continues For Boy, 14; Woman, 25, Also Missing.

Police, continuing today efforts to locate a missing 14-year-old boy, investigated also reports that a South Diamond street woman had been missing since Saturday.

The boy, Donald Pesano, 46 West Raleigh avenue, has been missing since he hitch-hiked to the Mansfield-Portsmouth football game at Portsmouth last Friday.

Mrs. Annabelle Etzwiler, 25, of 129 South Diamond street, has been reported missing from her home since last Saturday. She is described as 5 feet, seven inches tall and weighing about 135 pounds. She has dark brown hair and brown eyes.

MEAT INDUSTRY SEEKS TO END PRICE CONTROL

Agriculture Department Mum as It Awaits Petition Against Ceilings.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The agriculture department maintained strict silence today on tentative plans for easing the meat shortage as it awaited a formal demand that livestock price controls be ended.

This was the day an OPA meat industry advisory committee set last month in announcing that it would file a decontrol petition under terms of the new OPA act.

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson has virtually committed himself to rejecting the petition. The next step would be an appeal to the independent decontrol board.

Aides of Anderson reported meanwhile that the secretary is awaiting White House reaction to the proposals he discussed with President Truman last week for putting meat back on the nation's dinner tables.

* * *

Oppose Seizure.

These officials declined to discuss the proposals except to state that seizure of livestock on farms is not being considered.

The subject of federal seizure action in another direction was raised, however, by Senator Green (D., R. I.) who told reporters he thinks the government should take over any excess stocks of meat found in packers' warehouses.

Green also said the justice department should investigate whether there is a conspiracy to withhold meat from consumer trade channels.

U. S. Asks British To Give Us Meat

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— The war department announced today it is negotiating with the British for the loan of 20,000,000 pounds of beef until next Feb. 28, to feed American troops in the European and Pacific theaters.

Former Major, Now Sergeant, Enlists Them

Prospective army enlistees were offered a "both-sides-of-the-picture" sales talk on army life today.

The new head of the Mansfield Army recruiting station, M/Sgt. Daniel A. DeSalvo, saw service as a major on Leyte and Okinawa in the Pacific with the 76th division and the 519th MP Bn. He re-enlisted as a sergeant when relieved from active duty as an officer.

"Having been both an officer and an enlisted man," DeSalvo said, "I am in a position to give interested fellows the complete story on the advantages of army life from all standpoints, and I'll explain it to any fellow who wants to know."

REDS GET CREDIT

MOSCOW—(U.P.)—Russia will be granted credits of approximateiy $275,000,000 to buy Swedish goods during the next five years under terms of a trade agreement completed between the two countries, Swedish sources disclosed today.

MILK JUMPS 2 CENTS

FREMONT —(AP)— Milk prices here are at 19 cents a quart today, a two-cent increase.

LAUSCHE ASKS FBI'S AID IN INVESTIGATION

Ohio Executive Demands True Facts on Reports of Cold Storage Hoarding.

COLUMBUS —(UP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche today opened an investigation of the meat shortage in Ohio and asked the U. S. justice department to conduct a second investigation.

Lausche said he would conduct an investigation within the limits of his power and revealed his plea for help from the FBI.

In a telegram sent today to J. Edgar Hoover, FBI direcetor, Lausche said:

* * *

Wants Truth.

"The meat shelves of Ohio are bare. Word is current that the available meat supply has been artificially kept from the market. Whether this is true or not, I do not know.

"The people are entitled to know the true facts. I therefore urge that a speedy determination and investigation be made to ascertain the facts and a prompt disclosure made to the public so that they will know the true situation."

Copies of the telegram were sent to Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson and to U. S. Attorney General Tom C. Clark.

* * *

Checks Meat Depots.

The governor revealed that he had instructed that a spot check be made immediately of 25 cold storage depots to check reports on the amount of meat in cold storage.

All of the 90 cold storage depots which are required by state law to file quarterly reports of meat handled and the amount on hand will be checked, Lausche said. The last of the reports were due on Oct. 6.

"Of the approximately 90 bulk cold storage houses 53 reports have been filed as of this date," Lausche said. "It is anticipated that the other reports will be forthcoming promptly.

"A comparative tabulation will be made of the meat, fish and poultry status as of July 6 and Oct. 6. Action is being taken to get complete and correct information on the meat status as it exists in the bulk cold storage warehouses in Ohio at the present time."

* * *

Supplies Low.

Lausche said 39 out of the 53 reports thus far filed with the state indicate no meat whatsoever or quantities that are very negligible. They show an increase in fish, poultry and eggs.

The governor conferred this morning with Assistant Agriculture Director Byron Sandles and George Owen, assistant chief of the division of foods and dairies.

Lausche said a letter from the CIO requesting an investigation of the meat situation had reached his desk but that it did not prompt the action announced today.

The CIO council had charged that the meat shortage was being used for political purposes.

MERCURY DROPS

Cooler Weather Follows Day of Record Highs.

A drop of 31 degrees in 24 hours cooled off Mansfield today as all of Ohio cast longing glances at record-shattering readings yesterday.

Cleveland's high of 88 degrees, following on the heels of a 90-degree recording Sunday, set a new peak for Oct. Dayton, likewise, recorded a new heat record for the date, its 85.9 degrees exceeding the 85.6 record set in 1913. Mansfield's Monday high was 81.

The cooler weather will remain for a few days, the weatherman indicated. Scattered showers are probable tomorrow and the following days. The mercury stood at 67 in Mansfield at noon today, having climbed from 50 earlier this morning.

FLIER ESCAPES INJURY

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Rufus M. Smith, former army flight officer, escaped serious injury yesterday when his small plane crashed in an attempted forced landing at suburban Winton Place.

Ickes Gets 'Sore', Hurls Blast In Defense of Baruch Atom Bomb Plan

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—(INS)— Harold L. Ickes, self-styled "Old Curmudgeon" of the Roosevelt New Deal, was back pitching in the international arena today—this time in defense of Bernard M. Baruch as against former Agriculture Secretary Henry A. Wallace on the question of atomic bomb control.

Ickes let it be known he was "pretty damn sore" about the action of the Independent Citizens' committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, of which he is executive chairman, in criticizing the Baruch plan for atomic energy control, and in supporting Wallace, who favors the Russian formula.

Whether Ickes will resign his chairmanship of the political body remained to be seen. He made it plain, however, that he cared not a bit for the Independent citizen's committee stand, nor for that of the CIO Political Action committee, both of whom assailed Baruch at a recent Chicago convention of liberals, and endorsed the Wallace viewpoint.

What got under the former interior secretary's skin was the declaration by the Independent Citizen's committee that Wallace was right when he said of the Baruch formula for atomic energy control that:

"It requires that other nations accept binding agreements not to conduct research into the military uses of atomic energy and to describe their uranium and thorium resources, while the United States retains its technical knowledge and engineering freedom, until the international system is working to our own satisfaction."

Ickes called on the quasi-political group he heads up either to retract this endorsement or answer the Baruch protest satisfactorily.

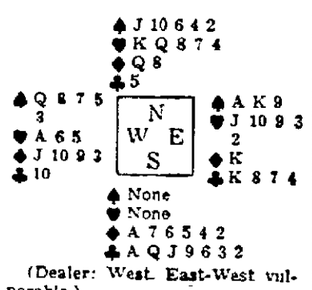
Barclay On Bridge

Card reading during the bidding can pay just as great dividends as during the play, sometimes much more. If the opponents are bidding against you, for instance, and one of them fails to support a call by his partner in a major suit, of which you yourself are short, you can automatically place a fair number of that suit in your partner's hand. That makes your partner unlikely to hold very many cards in some other suit in which you hold length. Such being the case, beware of a misfit.



(Dealer: West. East-West vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 ♥	2 ♦
Pass	2 ♠	Pass	4 ♣
Pass	4 ♠	Pass	5 ♦
Dbl

South should have been duly fearful of a misfit from the moment he saw his freak hand. Such a holding can be powerful if your partner fits either suit, with a hand like East's or West's, but disastrous when stuck with one like North's.

Even with nothing special developing in the bidding. South would have been wise to bid a minimum 3-Clubs on his second turn instead of the power-showing single jump to 4-Clubs. North would have shown a mere preference at 3-Diamonds, whereupon South might have tried 4-Diamonds to see if North was interested in game. He would have passed and South might have been down about one trick not doubled.

With East, however, bidding hearts and West failing to support the suit, there was a great chance that North had fairly long hearts. North had already bid spades, so a goodly number of his cards could have been placed by South in the majors. That should have warned South to go extra slow. His 4-Clubs, instead of a mere three, was grossly unpardonable in these circumstances.

In the 5-Diamonds doubled, South got set two tricks, and could have been beaten worse by better defense than his opponents put up against him.

Woman Becomes Church Delegate

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Admitting that she "wouldn't want a battle of the sexes," a youthful appearing grandmother wearing a pert, red hat took her seat here as the first woman delegate in the history of biennial conventions of the United Lutheran Church in America.

"I think that it's high time women took a more active part in the affairs of the church," said Mrs. Herbert Bechtolt, delegate from Chicago, as she was seated yesterday at the church's 15th biennial conclave here.

Declares Germans Can't Fight Again

BERLIN—(INS)—Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy commander of the American occupation zone, scouted news reports yesterday that Germany may soon be a war threat again.

Gen. Clay said, "men do not fight with their hands anymore." He said there is nothing in the economic picture which could make Germany capable of waging war in the next few years unless she became "a pawn."

DENIES BOMB REPORT

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson said yesterday there is "no truth whatsoever" to a report that the United States has shipped or is shipping atomic bombs to Great Britain.

TAFT SEES END OF OPA

DETROIT—(INS)—Senator Robert A. Taft, Ohio Republican, predicted yesterday that federal price regulations will be shelved by congress when it re-convenes in January.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you

Try and Stop Me

A regular army unit adopted as mascot an amiable bulldog who was named "Sergeant" and had three stripes duly sewn on his blanket.

One day the pooch chewed up a stock of vital documents. "Why didn't you stop him?" roared the officer in charge. "I didn't dare," the clerk answered. "He outranks me."

A story from the Dexter Fellows' archives concerns a lion tamer who advertised for an assistant. A young negro applicant appeared who stated confidently, "I'se your man, boss. The lion don't live what can scare me."

"Good," said the trainer. "We need a man to stick his head in the lion's mouth. It's really very simple. Think you can do it?"

"Only thing bothers me," said the applicant, "is what happens if dat lion suddenly decides to close his mouf?"

"In that case," the trained assured him solemnly, "you can take the rest of the day off."

Some Tasty Ideas For After School Appetites

When hungry youngsters come in from school with that familiar "Mom, what do you have to eat?"—why not combine real honest-to-goodness nourishment with the snack you give them. Something like this, maybe . . .

Serve them a dish of some fresh fruit, such as crisp, diced peaches, or bananas, or berries, topped with plenty of rich, creamy milk—Isaly's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk. Perhaps a cup of hot chocolate, too, made with this better, more nourishing milk. Isaly's Homogenized Milk has become the favorite of hundreds of Mansfield youngsters, many of them children who previously disliked milk. You'll notice the superiority of this milk yourself first time you taste it. So get several quarts now for those after school appetites and for regular morning, noon and evening meals. You can get Isaly's any one of these easy ways . . .

1. Telephone us, 4217-6, for delivery service.
2. Ask the Isaly route man when you see him.
3. Purchase at your regular grocery or market.
4. Visit any one of Isaly's 6 Dairy Stores.

Homogenized milk is Pasteurized milk scientifically processed by forcing every drop through very small openings at extremely high pressure. This produces nearly 10 times more butterfat globules. These tiny cream particles then combine with the milk and never separate. Thus, there's cream through the entire quart. Call us now—4217-6—and tell us when to begin delivery of this richer, more nourishing milk.

LET'S KEEP 'EM SMILING!

Children may have little bodies, but they have awfully big hearts! They also have dreams, hopes, and a capacity for understanding.

These same youngsters, all too soon, are going to inherit the weighty problems of this war-weary old world. They're going to have to help solve the muddle and mess our generation got into.

We owe these expectant and hopeful youngsters every chance for as "bright and shining" a future we can give 'em.

You've seen youngsters choke up when they've had their hopes and confidence wiped out.

You've suffered silently along with them, wanting to give them what they really need—to see that they got a chance.

Well, the local Community Fund stands ready to help give them that chance. The Mansfield Fund includes such Red Feather services as the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, the "Y's", the Friendly House and many other youth-building programs.

The Red Feather, flying high in Mansfield, means that children can get out in the sunshine, go on hikes, spend time at summer camps—build strong bodies for the adult-jobs to come. It means that there'll be milk for the school lunch to build for sturdy and disease-resisting systems. It means that children can learn hobbies, play games and learn "teamwork".

It means, too, that there will be visiting nurses, clinics and hospital services to repair and mend broken health.

America's youngsters deserve the priceless heritage of a happy childhood. There are too many governments and countries that'll be governed in the future by children whose minds will be warped by hunger, disease, war, and a general distrust of mankind. They've been cheated out of a normal childhood. They're old before their time.

Let's get our children their "hunk of happiness" right now.

Here are a few of the RED FEATHER services that your dollars helped to make possible in the year ending September 1, 1946:

1,271 free hospital days for families and individuals of insufficient income.

396 school children from low income families given free dental care.

2,644 visits were made by the Visiting Nurses to 325 patients.

154 school children were given new clothing to cover emergency needs.

88,792 bottles of milk were served to school children.

402 families sought counsel and advice on personal problems from Red Feather agencies.

539 meals and 373 nights lodging given to transients, many of whom were returned veterans.

7,753 articles of used clothing and items of furniture given to needy individuals.

9,843 individuals are enrolled in year-round programs and activities of Red Feather agencies—almost one-fourth of the city's entire population. Thousands more are indirectly reached.

4,641 boys and girls of school age receive educational, recreational and character building training.

1,479 boys and girls had the fun and guidance offered at the summer camps of the Red Feather agencies.

344 young school girls were enrolled in day-camp activities.

Winchell — On Broadway

THIS AMERICAN has the deepest respect for Gen. Eisenhower . . . But he dissents from the opinion that "there is no reason to be pessimistic about the trend of international events" . . . Eisenhower minimizes the possibility of another war . . . Yet one day before he made that statement — Selective Service announced that the October draft quota had been boosted high . . . Why draft more men if there is no danger? . . . Why is the army holding maneuvers in Alaska? . . . Why are we continuing to add to our stockpile of atom bombs? . . . Why are there American MPs wherever there are civilized people all over the world? . . . Are we being threatened by anybody or is Great Britain in trouble again? . . . Most leaders say there is no danger of an "immediate war." . . . Do they mean there is not going to be war in 30 minutes or 30 months?

* * *

The critical world crisis was further emphasized by the United Press report revealing that State Dep't officials will consult with army and navy authorities on the Russo-Turkish dispute and added: "State Dept. sources have said unofficially that the Dardanelles is one question on which the western powers are determined to take a strong stand against Russia, at all costs.

The vital words are "AT ALL COSTS."

Here is the best illustration of official double-talk that deludes the public and forces a reporter to be attacked because he speaks plainly. For the past month the state and navy departments have said that our fleet in the Mediterranean was there solely on a "goodwill cruise." . . . But the state and navy departments debunked their own words this week by publicly admitting that the fleet was not there for a good will cruise—but to provide the muscles for our foreign policies. . . . Navy Sec'y Forrestal stated that the fleet is "there to protect U. S. interests and to support U. S. policies in the area." . . . He also made it clear that our tasks were far from finished and other carriers would follow the ships we already have in the Mediterranean. Period.

The following points may explain why Schacht was acquitted. . . . British and American experts have estimated, if necessary, Germany's industry in the Ruhr (representing 3/5 of Germany's war potential capacities) could be restored within six months. . . . The war potentialities of Germany are today still greater than all the potentialities of the remaining European countries together, with the exception of Russia and Great Britain. . . . The British will give Schacht permission to leave Germany for a vacation in Sweden. Swedish friends of his say they expect him there soon.

In Nuernberg last summer the international menagerie of newsmen covering the war crimes trial was becoming pretty bored with that long-drawn out ordeal. . . . A little old guy from Tass, under orders to miss no trial session, summed it up: "We who must stay here to the end of this trial," he intoned, "are truly the last victims of Nazi persecution!"

The francos, the perons, the dillings, the kuhns and the mcwilliams (who gave the enemy aid and comfort during the war) are free, while the Wm. P. Maloneys, the John Roy Carlsons (author of "Under Cover") and others on the side of law and order are pushed, shoved and knee'd.

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK — Continuing our study of the fraud in the Wagner Labor Relations law, let us examine its ostensible purpose of abating labor disputes and thus improving commerce, and compare that stated intention with results.

The act was passed in Roosevelt's first term. Unemployment due to the so-called depression had been vast ever since 1929. All concerned agree that unions were weak in membership numbers and bargaining power. In fact, one of the reasons for the proposal was that the workers, being unorganized, did not have the strength to strike. Strikes, therefore, were not an important reason for the prevailing unemployment and impairment of commerce.

* * *

THE MEN who most selfishly wanted this law were union bosses such as John L. Lewis, then a close personal and political friend of Roosevelt and a protege of the first New Deal.

Unfortunately, emotion, rather than intelligence, directed the judgment of many other prominent Americans, editors and clergymen, as well as conscientious politicians. Organized industry had taken cruel and stupid advantage of the workers in many industries, including the newspaper business. The error of the unthinking but sympathetic in journalism, religion and politics, and in the homes across the country, was their eager acceptance of a counterfeit law as the means of equalizing the power of the workers with that of the employers.

* * *

THE EFFECTS of the Wagner Act were soon visible in historic riots as the CIO set out to dragoon American workers into its unions, often using Communist street fighters, especially trained like soldiers, to terrorize cities. Thousands of Americans were beaten up or terrorized. Thus the Steelworkers' and the United Auto Workers' unions of the CIO became the bargaining agents of the workers' "own choosing."

Roosevelt flippantly justified all this, and his followers among the union bosses, now becoming the masters of millions of Americans, insisted with him that the only remedy lay in individual prosecution of the rioters for disorderly conduct, assault, trespass or malicious destruction of property. They refused to admit that these insurrections, which temporarily conquered local and state governments', were organized. Their position is different when they storm President Truman in the White House to demand a federal law against lynching, where, again, the answer is prosecution of individuals by local authorities on actual evidence.

* * *

FROM A MINOR position in the causes that impede commerce, strikes and boycotts have become the most powerful impediment of all today. So great is the empediment of strikes, in the automobile and farm implement industires, in steel, coal and other lines, that all other causes are trivial.

A law pretending to encourage "friendly adjustment of industrial disputes" has throttled a whole nation in the tragic lost year since military victory in the great war, by placing in the hands of crooks and traitors, adventurous demagogues and union dictators, the power to prevent adjustment on any terms that industry can meet without bankruptcy. And, lately, as inevitably happens in enormous areas of dictatorship, upstart rivals of the established union masters, and even some honest and desperate rank-and-file rebels against union slavery, have organized "outlaw" strikes, paralyzing New York and Pittsburgh and interstate commerce.

The law which granted these few reckless, brutal advance agents of Fascism the power to clutch the United States by the throat, is "labor's magna charta." It is the life work of Robert F. Wagner, inflicted with the lying pretense that its purpose was to abate strife and develop peaceful commerce.

Lippmann — Today and Tomorrow

As Mr. Truman and Mr. Attlee chide one another about Palestine it would be well if responsible men on both sides of the Atlantic looked beneath the surface and resolved to think seriously about British-American relations rather than to react irritably. For this unfortunate incident is only one among many symptoms which should make us realize —especially those who have long believed in and worked for the partnership of the English-speaking peoples—that the terms and conditions of tht partnership have still to be elucidated.

For if Mr. Truman has meddled in a delicate negotiotion where the immediate responsibility is Britain's it must not be forgotten that in the Middle East Mr. Truman has for the first time in American history been making commitments which place upon the United States an ultimate responsibility for the security of the whole region and of the British position in that region. How immediate responsibility, which is British, and ultimate responsibility, which is also American, are to be shared and harmonized no statesman on either side of the Atlantic yet knows.

* * *

But that there is her a problem of immense gravity and complication no one should attempt to deny. Though it is the fashion for the moment to ignore it, largely out of fear that to examine the British - American problem is to give aid and comfort to the Russians, we may take it for certain that unless those who believe in the British-American partnership grasp the nettle those who wish to disrupt the partnership will exploit the differences which we have failed to resolve.

Lord Lothian, who was not only a most effective ambassador but also a British-American statesman of the first rank, understood the problem, and never—even in the darkest days of the war—lost sight of it. "Anglo-American relations," he once remarked in a speech at St. Louis, "are always difficult to talk about . . . there are, however, two sayings which each contain the proverbial half-truth which I cannot forbear to quote tonight because they tend to put the question in a humorous perspective. One is the well-known American gag about the attitude of Great Britain. England expects every American to do his duty'—that is, come to the assistance of the British Empire when it is in trouble. The other is the British gag about the attitude of the United States. 'America expects the British Navy to defend her right to be neutral.'"

Lord Lothian was speaking in April, 1940, before the United States had entered the war before lend-lease, before the destroyer-bases transaction. British-American relations are now different than they were then in that American neutrality, when Britain is involved in a world conflict, is no longer conceivable. But the residual problem, as yet unsolved, remains—namely that while in the difficulties of the empire the initiative and the authority are in London, the consequences must be met also in Washington.

CITY STUDIES 4 FIRMS' BIDS ON NEW TRUCKS

Board of Control Gets Offers of Vehicles For Garbage, Ash Service.

Board of control today was to consider bids submitted by four companies to supply the city with three new garbage and ash trucks.

Bids on the ash trucks range from $1,500 to $2,200 while the garbage truck bids range from $2,300 to $3,400.

Delivery dates range from six weeks to "indefinite" on the ash trucks; from 15 to 90 days on the garbage trucks.

City council has set up $9,500 for purchase of two ash trucks and one garbage truck and will await delivery on them before putting higher refuse collection rates into effect.

G. L. Rogers' bid on a one-ton ash truck was low but he set no delivery date. Brandenberg Chevrolet company's bid on a one-and-a-half-ton truck was next lowest with a six to eight weeks delivery time. The Colby and Earick agency bid high and promised delivery in two to six months.

On the garbage trucks, the Leach company, of Oshkosh, Wis., bid low and set a 15 to 30-day delivery time while the Brandenberg company's bid was high with a 90-day delivery time.

In addition to awaiting delivery of new equipment before putting increased garbage-ash rates into effect, council is also considering delaying the boosts until February in order not to interfere with water department collections.

OHIO POLITICS IN HIGH GEAR

Four Major State Candidates Make Bids For Attention.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— With the election just four weeks away, state politics swung into high gear today as all four major candidates made their bids for a place in the day's news.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche, seeking re-election on the Democratic ticket, ordered a probe of gambling at Grove City, near Columbus; his Republican opponent, former Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert, insisted the state administration was part and parcel with the New Deal; U. S. Sen. James W. Huffman chided his senior colleague, Sen. Robert A. Taft, for condemning the Nuernberg war trials and challenged former Republican Gov. John W. Bricker to state his views on the subject, and Bricker, now Huffman's opponent, took Huffman to task for assertedly claiming that "America is in a wholesome condition and the New Deal is entitled to the credit."

Meanwhile, registrations closed in those municipal areas of the state which require pre-qualification of voters. The number of voters eligible to participate in the November 5 election approaches that of the presidential year of 1944, but is because all those who voted then remain eligible this year.

No one, however, anticipated much more than 60 to 65 per cent as much of a turnout this year, since little interest has been evidenced in the election until the last few days. Off-year elections traditionally fall far short of the totals reached in presidential years.

CAR OVERTURNS

Warren Cantor Suffers Hand and Head Lacerations.

Warren Cantor, 25, of 104 Orchard street, was treated at General hospital today for lacerations on the head and hand suffered when his car overturned on the airport road at 2:10 a. m. today.

Injured in an industrial accident yesterday, Orland Johnson, 55, of 182 East First street, was treated for a cut on the right hand suffered when his hand came into contact with a saw while working at the Humphryes Manufacturing company.

Phalanx Decides Future Tonight

YMCA Phalanx club's reorganization meeting at 8:30 heads a full calendar of events.

A decision will be made on a proposal to pass the club's charter on to a younger group of men and to reorganize the present club, most of whom are World War II veterans, under a different name.

Other scheduled events include the regular rifle shooting meet of the "Y" Midgets, at 6:30 and of the Legion scouts at 8 p. m. with Floyd Myers as the instructor at both shooting events; the second in the series of girl's swimming classes, sponsored by the Mansfield Business Women's club, at 6:30 with Mrs. Larry Geisinger, from Ashland, as instructor and the regular meeting of emblem club members at 7 o'clock.

Bankers to Hear Willard Man at Area Meet In City

Nine counties and 66 banks are to be represented at the 40th annual session of Group 6 of the Ohio Bankers association tomorrow at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Sessions will start at 2:30 p. m. The afternoon meeting will be followed by a dinner at 7 p. m., at which John E. Wise, president of the Willard United bank, and former State Bankers' association president, will speak on bank operating problems. His talk will be followed by a round-table discussion. Paul A. Warner, chairman of this district and executive vice president of the Knox County Savings bank at Mt. Vernon, will preside over the sessions.

A slate of nominees for district offices will be presented by the nominating committee, which includes Paul M. Eliot, executive vice president of the Farmers Savings and Trust company, Mansfield, acting as chairman; H. L. Bigbee, president of the Farmers bank at Bellville, and Robert White, president of the National City bank at Marion.

It is expected that a number of past presidents of the Ohio Bankers' association will attend the meeting. They will include W. E. Glicke, president of the City bank at Bucyrus; J. D. St. John, vice president of the Toledo Trust company; E. D. Reese, president of the Park National bank at Newark, and A. F. Whitney, of the First Central Trust company of Akron. Eliot is also a past president of the association, having served during 1944-45.

FAIRMAN HEADS 40 ET 8 CLUB

Veterans' Club Picks New Officers at Meet.

Fay B. Fairman was elected chef de gare of Voiture No. 20, 40 et 8 club for 1947 at a meeting last night at the American Legion home. He will succeed G. C. Kahl.

Other officers elected were C. C. Flood, chef de train; Floyd O. Cupp, correspondent; Floyd A. Tomlinson, commissaire Intendant; John E. Wenning conducteur; Floyd E. Buzzard, garde de la porte; Gates E. Green, lampiste; Edward E. Stone, commissaire voyageur; A. F. Conroy, William Rose and G. C. Kahl were elected cheminots.

Club members said they would strive to retain the Child Welfare cup given them at the Cleveland convention last August in recognition of their excellent work in child welfare work during the past year. Possession of the cup, now on display at the Sam Fox jewelry store, will be retained by the organization which wins it for three consecutive years.

Installation of the new officers will be held the first Monday in November.

FINED IN SHELBY

Earl T. Newcomer, 439 Orange street, today was fined $5 and costs in the Shelby mayor's court for failure to stop at a stop sign. State Highway Patrolmen testified that Newcomer's auto struck a car driven by Henry Broadhead of Shiloh, R. D. 2, at 6:45 p. m. Saturday at the junction of State Routes 178 and 96.

COURT ORDERS SIX TO PRISON

Two Pocket Picking Charges Reduced to Assault.

Six more persons indicted by the recent grand jury were tried in common pleas court yesterday and today, four of them drawing sentences to the Ohio penitentiary and two winning reduced charges and being sentenced to the county jail.

In court this morning were Otis Green and Mose L. Miller, indicted for pocket picking. Because of scanty evidence to support the indictment, charges were reduced to assault and battery, Prosecutor Theodore Lutz said.

Both men pleaded guilty to the lower counts and were sentenced by Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch to 60 days in the county jail. They were indicted on a charge of picking the pocket of Alvin C. Murray, Ashland, of a $50 watch Aug. 11. Green was defended by Atty. Lydon H. Beam while Atty. Robert Lett represented Miller.

Drawing terms in the Ohio penitentiary were Lawrence Fox, Ralph W. Cline, Homer L. Bartley and James R. Travis, all but Bartley changing original pleas of innocence to guilty.

Fox and Cline, indicted on a charge of breaking and entering the timekeeper's office of the Weinstein Construction company where they stole $302, were sentenced to one to 15 years in the penitentiary. They were represented by Atty. Jacob Wagenhals.

Bartley, pleading innocent to an indictment for robbing Clarence D. McCammon of $2 Aug. 27, waived a jury trial. He was found guilty and sentenced to one to 25 years in the penitentiary. Defending him was Atty. C. F. Creedman.

Travis pleaded guilty, through Atty. William Calhoun, to an indictment for stealing the auto of L. E. Ernsberger, Sept. 12 and was sentenced to one to 20 years in the penitentiary.

Meanwhile, trial dates were scheduled for five other defendants: Edward McFarland, operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent, next Thursday; James R. Beatty, jr., abandoning a pregnant wife, Friday; Ellsworth Moyer, rape without consent, Oct. 14; Howard Nichols, second degree murder, Oct. 16; John C. Laughlin, rape with consent, Oct. 18; and Lewis Murton, second degree murder, Oct. 21 (tentative date.)

In addition, Thomas Sowell, indicted by a previous grand jury on a charge of burglary, is to be tried at an undetermined date.

Mansfielder Loses 2 Dogs In Week

Thieves struck twice at John Valerio's dog house and today he's minus $75 worth of canine.

First it was a $25 Beagle dog which was taken last Tuesday from the rear of the Valerio home, 57 East Sixth street. Sunday night the thieves returned and made off with a Pekinese dog, valued at $50.

REQUEST PREPARED

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn said applications would be prepared today for federal aid in the construction of an airport administration building. If an agreement is reached between the city and the federal government, the Civil Aeronautics Authority could provide up to 50 per cent of the funds.

CARROT WANDERS—

A carrot that wandered from the "straight and narrow path" that carrots usually take, and turned into a freak was brought to the News-Journal office yesterday. Grown in the garden of Charles Boyle, Country Club addition, the carrot had branched out into five smaller ones of various sizes. The dry weather during growing season was attributed as the cause of the unnatural growth.

WHISTLES FOR PRACTICE—

Fire Prevention Week was given an added interest at the Ohio Brass company when the periodical fire drill was held this morning. Announcing the time for such a drill, factory whistles blew loudly and for several minutes. At the signal, employes who had been designated ahead of time, took their posts at various places in the factory where, in case of real fire, they would be handy to the company's fire fighting equipment and hose houses.

Chatter . . .

Attracting pedestrians' attention are the scores of fire hydrant "collars," carrying the theme, "An Ounce of Prevention is Worth Tons of Water," put up by city firemen for the week's observance of fire prevention. . . . Literally hundreds of Mansfielders seeking out the colorful retreats at Mohican state park with their lunch baskets. Picnicking there last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bundt, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cropper, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Eliot and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sorenson.

VANDALS BUSY

Porch Chairs Are Broken and Autos Stoned.

Reports that juvenile vandals broke some porch chairs, stoned passing autos and shoved another car into the middle of a street were filed with police last night.

J. L. McBee, 94 West Fourth street, told officers vandals broke the chairs at his home last night.

A car owned by Fred Cook, 461 Hammond avenue, was reported to have been moved about a half block while another resident said that boys stoned cars at South Main street and Cameron avenue.

Officers who investigated said they could locate no suspects.

Hire Handicapped Luncheon Theme

What has been, is being, and can be done, to implement the slogan "Hire the handicapped it's good business," will be explained to Mansfield personnel and employment managers at a luncheon meeting in the Mansfield-Leland hotel tomorrow noon.

A highlight of national employ the handicapped week, the luncheon will feature a talk by Wendell Edgerly, acting administrator of the Veterans Employment service for Ohio. Edgerly will present facts and figures to show that absenteeism, labor turnover and accident rates are lower among handicapped than able bodied workers, and that the production rates of the handicapped workers are up.

Frank Berkey, employment manager of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company, is program chairman.

AGENCY HALTS TAG CHANGES BY RETAILERS

Goods on Hand Must Be Sold as Ticketed By Maker After Oct. 14.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — OPA changed some of its price tag rules today to end what one official called "chiseling by some retailers."

Involved are many so-called "brand name" items such as clothing, shoes, furniture, rugs and shower curtains. Usually well-advertised and sold on a uniform price basis, the retail price ceiling tag has been placed on them by the manufacturer and producer.

Previously when this ceiling price advanced, OPA allowed the retailer to re-ticket his entire stock at the new higher prices.

This must stop Oct. 14, OPA announced, so that sales are made on a basis of actual cost at the time of shipment—plus the legal profit margin at that time.

The result may be that some retailers will be offering identical "brand names" at different ceiling prices.

Goods Held Back.

"Too many retailers were getting wind of impending price increases," the OPA official told a reporter. "Then they would hold their entire stocks back, wait for a new shipment and re-ticket the whole lot at the higher price."

Other price development included:

1. Higher ceilings upon some cotton knitwear which OPA said might bring increases as high as 30 per cent.

2. A cutback of raw sugar allowed to manufacturers of bulk sweetened condensed milk after Nov. 1. OPA said the milk condensers would get about 60,000 less tons of raw sugar annually.

3. A formal petition for decontrol of coffee on the grounds that supplies are ample to meet demands. It may take several weeks before this reaches a final decision by the decontrol board.

The cotton knitwear increase, effective today, allows incentive pricing to increase production of staple items such as polo shirts, tee shirts, children's two-piece cotton suits, cotton sweaters and creepers.

Previously these incentive price hikes had been limited to low-cost items and then subject to a "cut-off price" above which they could not rise. Today's action brings higher-priced staple items under the increase and includes knitted outerwear, long pants and overalls.

Based on previous experience with increases to stimulate production of low-cost garments, OPA said retail prices "will run around 30 per cent" higher.

OPA said the cutback in sugar allocated to milk condensers was recommended by the agriculture department because the industry was obtaining too large a share of limited sugar supplies.

Former City Resident Dies

H. Leo McCullough, 56, formerly of Mansfield, died suddenly at White Plains, N. Y., Sunday. He was a mathematics teacher in the schools there.

Born in Mansfield Dec. 17, 1889, Mr. McCullough was graduated from high school here in 1909. He was a brother of Dwight A. McCullough, vice president of the Barnes Manufacturing company.

Mr. McCullough was graduated from Wittenberg college at Springfield in 1913 and had taught in the Sandusky, Coshocton, Delaware and White Plains schools.

He is survived by his wife, Evalyn and one brother, Dwight A. of Mansfield.

Services will be held at the McKeller funeral home in Sandusky at 2 p. m tomorrow. Burial will be in Sandusky.

Barber Shop Grant Approved by CPA

A permit to construct a barber shop at 209 North Mulberry street was one of the 23 non-housing projects valued at $597,450 granted last week the Cleveland District Office of the Civilian Production Administration announced today.

Sixteen cases which would have involved an expenditure of $360,000 for labor and materials were denied.

The barber shop here will be built by T. D. Ditcheff at a cost of $1,800.

Only other project for this area granted was one permitting William W. Corwin of Willard to construct doctors' offices at an estimated cost of $7,000.

Program to Use N-J Editorials

Editorials from the News-Journal and other newspapers will be featured on the "Background" program of Major General James E. Edmonds over WLW, Cincinnati, this week.

The program will be heard daily, Monday through Friday, at 11:15 p. m. and will be devoted to comment from different publications, with editorial expressions on domestic and international issues.

A native of New Orleans, Gen. Edmonds has an international reputation as a military and news analyst.

CARD ACE TRUMPS RED SOX, 3-0

Brecheen's 4-Hitter Squares World Series

By LEO H. PETERSEN, UP Sports Editor.

ABOARD WORLD SERIES SPECIAL, En Route to Boston—(UP)—The Red Sox and the Cardinals, leaving Sportsman's park in St. Louis where they split the first two games, headed for Boston's Fenway park today for the third game of the world series.

And there wasn't anything but joy riding with them.

Manager Joe Cronin of the Red Sox, hoping for the best, figured that the vaunted power which his team showed as it swept to the American league pennant would assert itself again once his boys got back home.

Eddie Dyer, the boss of the Cardinals, was just as sure that his Red Birds, having proved that they belong in the same park with the Red Sox, would continue to do as well away from home as they did on their home grounds.

Dyer nominated little Murry Dickson, a righthander with a lot of stuff, to go after that vital third game tomorrow while Cronin banked on Dave (Boo) Ferriss, who won 25 games for him this season.

Dickson won the game which gave the Cards the pennant, beating the Dodgers with the aid of Harry (The Cat) Brecheen, the brilliant southpaw of the Red Birds who got his team back on even terms yesterday as he shut out the Cronin men on four hits, all of them singles, to win 3 to 0. Dyer was expecting him to take up where Brecheen left off.

The Cards may not win at Boston, but they proved to a lot of skeptics that they had a lot of class. It may not be enough to win the series, but no matter what happens from here on out they've let the Red Sox know that they are meeting a tough ball club.

Although he wasn't at all unhappy, Cronin, who had cautioned from the start that the Cards were going to be rough to beat, was confident that Ferriss, one of the greatest pitchers to come up in years, would do all right before the home folks. Under normal circumstances he would have pitched the youthful righthander yesterday, but decided he could afford to gamble since Tex Hughson won the opening game for him So Cronin held him back, figuring he might go better before the home folks.

The gamble turned out to be a bad one. For Mickey Harris, although he hurled good ball, lost to the curving masterpiece which Brecheen came up with

There have been few world series games in which a pitcher dominated the play to the extent that Brecheen did yesterday. He used his arm to keep the Red Sox away from the plate and his bat to account for the only run he needed to win.

That came in the third inning when his single scored Del Rice, who in his first time at bat in a world series game had rifled a double down the left field line.

Brecheen was a keyman in the other two runs the Cards scored in the fifth. His attempted sacrifice, after Rice again had hit—this time a single—became quite a blow. The veteran Pinky Higgins came in fast to scoop up the bunt and fired it to second with plenty of time to catch Rice on a force. But the throw was wild and Rice wound up at third and Brecheen on second. Terry Moore, with an infield hit, and Stan Musial on a grounder brought both men around.

When he wasn't hitting or running the bases, Brecheen was using all the pitching cunning in the book as he turned back the Red Sox inning after inning. He reached the heights each time he faced Ted Williams, with the Cards using a modified version of the "Boudreau shift" against the slugging Red Sox star.

Brecheen fed him nothing but inside curve balls, most of which had Williams ducking away from the plate fearing the ball would hit him. But Harry had enough stuff on it so it would break over the plate.

Majors Second In Rushing

Picking more ground than the entire Portsmouth Trojan ball-toting brigade last Friday, Ralph Majors moved into second place among the Mansfield Tyger backs in total-yards gained rushing.

Majors carried the pigskin 18 times for a total of 134 yards while the Trojan backs made 102 yards in 40 tries at the tough Tyger forward wall. Fullback Kenny Horvath still leads the Bengals in offensive with 380 yards in 55 trips while Majors has 285.

Bill McKee, speedy halfback, moved into undisputed possession of second place in the scoring column by counting one TD against Portsmouth. McKee has 24 points, 18 less than Horbath. The Bengal fullback scored four times in the Marion Harding tilt, twice in the Sandusky debacle and once against Portsmouth.

Mansfield has run up almost twice as many yards as their four opponents this season while outscoring the foe, 109 to 28. The Tygers have netted 1,083 yards passing and running to 567 for the opposition. Mansfield has made 49 first downs to 35 for Marion, Cleveland East, Sandusky and Portsmouth.

The Tygers will be favored to win their fifth straight decision Friday night at Springfield. The Wildcats have won only one of four games this season.

TYGERS ADVANCE TO THIRD IN POLL

By JOHN BARRINGTON

COLUMBUS—(INS)—One new team made its appearance today among the ten best Ohio scholastic football elevens as selected in the International News Service weekly statewide poll of sports editors.

Steubenville Central Catholic claimed ninth place as a wholesale shift of positions affected nearly everyone but the joint heads of the class, Cleveland Cathedral Latin and Toledo Waite.

Latin again achieved top billing, but the battle with Waite was closer than ever. Latin defeated

1. Cleveland Cathedral Latin.
2. Toledo Waite.
3. Mansfield.
4. Canton McKinley.
5. Dayton Chaminade.
6. Massillon.
7. Campbell.
8. Lima Central.
9. Steubenville Central Catholic.
10. Portsmouth.

Cleveland East Tech, making it 29 games without defeat. Waite, chief title claimant in last year's confused picture, had no trouble in disposing of its fourth 1946 victim, Toledo Woodward.

Biggest shift in position was occasioned by Mansfield's 14-7 defeat of Portsmouth. The Tygers climbed from sixth to third while Portsmouth tumbled all the way to tenth in the scribes' estimation.

Canton McKinley, a 42-0 winner over Niles, stayed right where it was last week—in fourth position, as did fifth-place Dayton Chaminade.

Massillon moved up from seventh to sixth with its 13-to-6 win over Steubenville. Both Campbell and Lima Central advanced two spots, to seventh and eighth, respectively.

Campbell walloped Ferrell, Pa., 21-6, and Lima Central romped over Springfield, 32-0.

Those two stepped over the prostrate form of Alliance after the latter suffered its first loss, 14-13, to Zanesville. The defeat dropped Alliance out of the first ten.

Just out of the money were several other schools, all waiting for the slightest slip on the part of anyone above them. Newark, one of last year's top-notchers and undefeated this season, couldn't quite get back into the upper bracket despite a handy win over Lancaster.

Zanesville on the strength of its Alliance victory received attention for the first time.

Others mentioned frequently were Middletown, Austintown Fitch, Youngstown Woodrow Wilson and Youngstown Ursuline.

Four Tough Guys In Wrestling Show

Four top flight grapplers meet in one of the popular tag-team matches at the weekly wrestling show Thursday night at the Armory.

Appearing in the tag-match will be Jesse James, Long Island badman; Antone Leone, Brooklyn; George Strickland, Columbus; and Wild Bill Zimovich. James and Leone meet Strickland and Zimovich in the two-out-of-three falls (one hour time limit) main-go.

In the preliminary match starting at 8:15, James meets Strickland in the opener and Zimovich faces Leone in the second setto. Both matches have a thirty minute time limit. Tickets for the matches can be purchased at King's shoe store.

Simon Pure Drills Start In F-H Ring

Amateur boxing classes get underway tonight at the Friendly House at 5:45 o'clock. Mike Wentz, Friendly House athletic director, announced that these classes are open to any boys living in Richland county.

Classes will be held every Monday, Tuesday and Thursday from 5:45 until 7 p. m. and there will be no charge for the training. Trainers will be Paul Carbetta, Max Miller, Joe Zimmerman and Al Spivit.

Tyger Sophomores After Fourth Straight Win

Mansfield sophomores will be after their fourth straight victory Thursday evening when they entertain Elyria on the Stadium field gridiron at 7:30 o'clock.

Coach Fred Staub's football performers were to have played Galion Wednesday afternoon, but that game has been postponed. Paul Ferguson, Bengal quarterback, received a broken arm at Sandusky last week and will be out of uniform for the remainder of the season.

Church Loop Meets Tonight at "Y"

Meeting of junior and senior Church league teams will be held at the YMCA tonight at 7:30. The junior loop is for cagers 17 years old and under while the senior league is for players over 17.

Second organization meeting of the "Y" Class B league is scheduled for tomorrow night at 7:30 at the YMCA. Four teams—Veteran's Administration, Dominion Electric, YMCA, and ex-Phalanx Fraternity—have entered and John Fike, "Y" physical director, wants two more quintets.

Tygers Run Today

Coach Harry Mehock's Tyger cross country team will be after their third consecutive win this afternoon as the Bengals meet Freemont at Coolridge golf course at 4 o'clock.

Rams Meet Undefeated Loudonville

Mansfield Madison football team entertains an undefeated Loudonville eleven Friday night in the Rams' annual homecoming game. Loudonville has impressive victories over Fredericktown, Utica, New London and last week turned back a veteran Danville squad 40 to 0.

Coach Jeff DeHaven said that the Loudonville aggregation will be one of the strongest teams the Rams have faced and that his charges are evenly matched in weight and speed.

DeHaven's second team has been running Loudonville plays against the varsity to prepare them for Bill Porter, fleet-footed soph, who has been the leading Loudonville ground-gainer and high point man. Last season as a freshman Porter was one of the most valuable backs in the Northeastern Buckeye league.

George Haudenschild, Loudonville pass-master, is also on the list of men that must be stopped.

Although the Rams came home from Rittman on the long end of a 20 to 6 score, the Madison mentor has been practicing down-field blocking in an effort to give the Rams more offensive strength.

The Loudonville band will play at the homecoming game. At halftime Donna Beer, pretty senior, will be crowned queen by Gloria Tucker, last year's Madison queen. Miss Beer and her attendants, Joy Sauder, Lucille Berry, Betty Harris and Barbara Keipp will be introduced.

After the game there will be a dance in the gym and Miss Beer and football Captain Jack Cleckner will lead the grand march.

In 1945 Alabama set a new season record for percentage of passes completed—71 bull's eyes in 117 tosses or .607.

Madison Boosters Meet Tonight

Madison football boosters club will meet tonight at the high school auditorium at 7:30 o'clock, William Erdenberger, secretary, announced today. Every one is invited and any persons interested in joining the boosters club can contact Erdenberger at this meeting.

Plans for the homecoming game Friday night and the football banquet will be discussed. Coach Jeff DeHaven will give a few pointers on the Rams previous games and explain what he plans to do to stop the Loudonville offense Friday night.

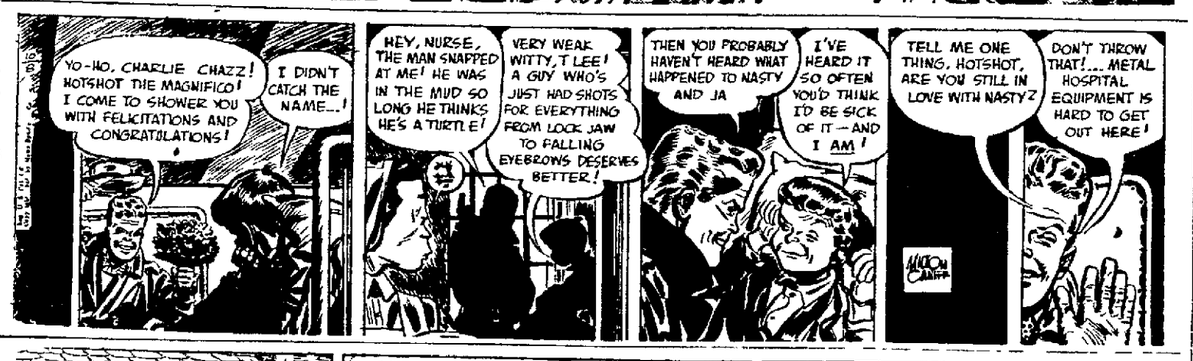
SUPERMAN

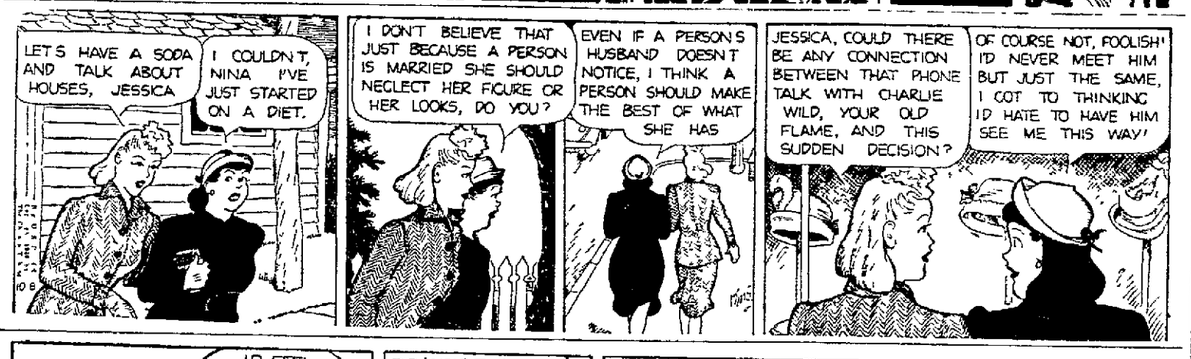
YOU HEARD ME! YOU'RE FIRED!
AND THERE ARE A COUPLE OF THINGS I'D LIKE TO TELL YOU, MR. SAM BRODIE!
YOU'RE A WINDBAG! A PHONY WHO IS INCAPABLE OF HOLDING THE SIMPLEST JOB!
WHAT'S MORE— I NEVER WANT TO SEE YOU AGAIN!
NOW LET ME TELL YOU SOMETHING, MISS TILLIE CROCKETT!
(—THIS IS INFORMATIVE—)

TERRY & PIRATES



YO-HO, CHARLIE CHAZZ! HOTSHOT THE MAGNIFICO! I COME TO SHOWER YOU WITH FELICITATIONS AND CONGRATULATIONS!
I DIDN'T CATCH THE NAME...!
HEY, NURSE, THE MAN SNAPPED AT ME! HE WAS IN THE MUD SO LONG HE THINKS HE'S A TURTLE!
VERY WEAK WITTY, T LEE! A GUY WHO'S JUST HAD SHOTS FOR EVERYTHING FROM LOCK JAW TO FALLING EYEBROWS DESERVES BETTER!
THEN YOU PROBABLY HAVEN'T HEARD WHAT HAPPENED TO NASTY AND JA
I'VE HEARD IT SO OFTEN YOU'D THINK I'D BE SICK OF IT—AND I AM!
TELL ME ONE THING, HOTSHOT, ARE YOU STILL IN LOVE WITH NASTY?
DON'T THROW THAT!... METAL HOSPITAL EQUIPMENT IS HARD TO GET OUT HERE!

GASOLINE ALLEY



LET'S HAVE A SODA AND TALK ABOUT HOUSES, JESSICA
I COULDN'T, NINA I'VE JUST STARTED ON A DIET.
I DON'T BELIEVE THAT JUST BECAUSE A PERSON IS MARRIED SHE SHOULD NEGLECT HER FIGURE OR HER LOOKS, DO YOU?
EVEN IF A PERSON'S HUSBAND DOESN'T NOTICE, I THINK A PERSON SHOULD MAKE THE BEST OF WHAT SHE HAS JESSICA, COULD THERE BE ANY CONNECTION BETWEEN THAT PHONE TALK WITH CHARLIE WILD, YOUR OLD FLAME, AND THIS SUDDEN DECISION?
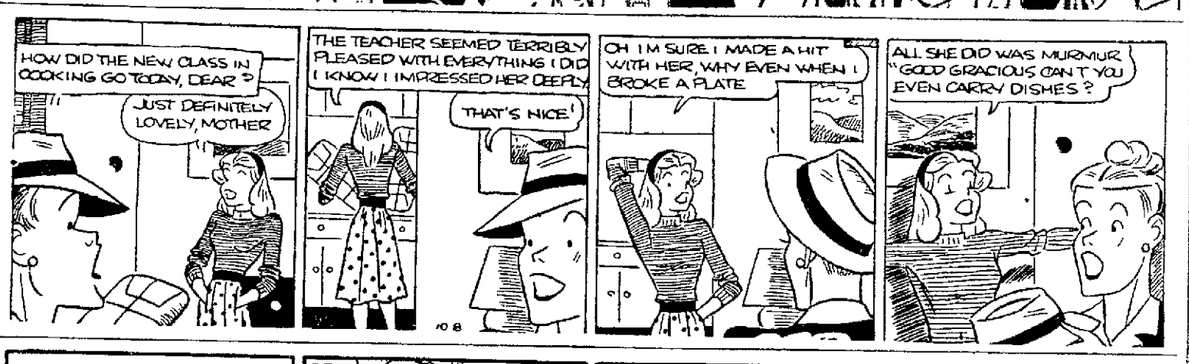
OF COURSE NOT, FOOLISH! I'D NEVER MEET HIM BUT JUST THE SAME, I GOT TO THINKING I'D HATE TO HAVE HIM SEE ME THIS WAY!

RIP KIRBY

IT'S GETTING LATE, SIR AND YOU'RE EXPECTED AT THE CONGRESS OF SCIENCE
I'D FEEL MORE LIKE IT IF I COULD GET THE MANGLER OFF MY MIND!
RIP! YOU'VE GOT TO GO! YOU'RE ONE OF THE COUNTRY'S LEADING SCIENTISTS!
...AND LOUSIEST DETECTIVES! OKAY, HONEY!
THE POLICE ON THE PHONE SIR IT'S URGENT
WOULDN'T YOU JUST KNOW IT?!
POLICE HEADQUARTERS
BETTER GET DOWN HERE, KIRBY ONE OF OUR BOYS THINKS HE'S TAGGED THE MANGLERS HIDE-OUT! TAILED A GUY THERE WHO BOUGHT A WATER PISTOL
OH MY WAY, SULLY!

PENNY



HOW DID THE NEW CLASS IN COOKING GO TODAY, DEAR?
JUST DEFINITELY LOVELY, MOTHER
THE TEACHER SEEMED TERRIBLY PLEASED WITH EVERYTHING I DID I KNOW I IMPRESSED HER DEEPLY THAT'S NICE!
OH I'M SURE I MADE A HIT WITH HER, WHY EVEN WHEN I BROKE A PLATE

FORKTAIL EXPLAINS

If all the facts you can but gain
They will all mysteries explain
—Old Mother Nature

For several days Forktail the Barn Swallow and a great number of his friends and relatives had spent each day between flying low over the Green Meadow darting, twisting, turning or sitting in seemingly endless rows on the telephone wires What would they have done without those wires to sit on? Peter wondered When they were flying Peter became almost dizzy watching them How they could manage to keep from bumping each other he couldn't understand

"I wouldn't want to be in a crowd like that," said Peter to Mrs Peter "I would feel all the time that some one would be getting in my way, or I would be getting in the way of others I wonder why they do it It is only at this time of year, in late summer, that we see them in crowds

"Why don't you ask Forktail?" said practical little Mrs Peter

"I'll do just that 'I'll do it the very next chance I get,' declared Peter

The chance came very shortly Skimmer rested for a few minutes near Peter 'Where have all your friends come from?' asked Peter

"Oh everywhere, from all over," twittered Forktail vaguely 'We've been getting together for quite a while," he added

"What for?" Peter asked the question bluntly

"So when the time comes we will be ready to make the long journey to the Sunny South together," replied Forktail

"Couldn't you make it alone or with just a few?" Peter wanted to know.

"We could, I suppose, but it wouldn't be so much fun and we wouldn't feel so safe Don't you think so?" said Forktail.

"I don't know I never was in a crowd," replied Peter

There are many dangers on such a long journey so it seems better for many to travel together Then there are more eyes to keep watch," explained the Swallow He began preening his feathers

'Why does the whole crowd go racing about so low over the Green Meadows these mornings?' was Peter's next question

"I don't mind questions if they are not foolish ones twittered Forktail 'I've often seen you looking for sweet clover Why do you do that?"

'Because I'm hungry A fellow must eat" retorted Peter a bit crossly To him that was a foolish question

"Just so" twittered Forktail, pulling his pretty head from under a wing where he had straightened a feather 'That is just the reason you see us flying over the Green Meadows We are getting breakfast"

"In the air?" questioned Petter in a tone that suggested unbelief on his part

"Where else would we get it? Don't you know that we Swallows get most of our food in the air? We live on insects, mostly kinds that fly some big and some very small If there are enough of them we don't care how small they are Sometimes we find them high in the air Just now the kinds we are getting fly low, just above the grass When we have had enough we get together on the wires and talk over things Handy things, those wires I have been told that once there were none What the Swallow folks did then I'm sure I don't know Those wires are just the right size for our small feet to hold to comfortably And we are right out in the open where we like to be in daytime They are a great convenience those wires I don't know what we would do without them" Forktail stopped talking and darted out into the whirling feathered crowd

"Are you satisfied now?" asked Mrs Peter.

"No," said Peter "There are still some things I want to know. I hope Skimmer will come back"

The next story, "Peter's Discovery."

GALION CHEST ORGANIZED AT PUBLIC MEET

Officers Chosen, Committees Named; 5 Organizations Will Benefit.

GALION—The Galion Community Chest was organized at a public meeting last night at the American Legion home with a board of directors and officers elected during the session.

While the campaign for funds was discussed, no date was set for the beginning of the drive.

The general meeting was presided over by Arthur Manzer, and the speaker was Everett C. Schimp, Ohio State professor of social administration.

Officers chosen are: Marvin Adams, president; M. A. Povenmire, vice president; Mrs. Bert Deibig, secretary, and Albert Ritzhaupt, treasurer.

A campaign manager will be appointed with a few days, Adams said, following his election as campaign president.

Lawrence Bennett reported on the nominating committee, and the 15 persons named to the board of directors were unanimously elected as follows: Adams, M. D. Bonsteel, Mrs. Deibig, John M. Fingar, J. C. Gay, Roger Godfrey, Charles Hinckley, Paul Jones, Manzer, B. J. McMahon, Lawrence Neumann, Povenmire, Ritzhaupt, Grace Thomas and Josephine Tracht.

A budget committee named by Adams is composed of Ritzhaupt, Manzer, McMahon, and Bonsteel. Three others will be appointed by organizations which will benefit from funds raised. Miss Miriam Sayre was chosen publicity chairman.

Five organizations to benefit from the chest will be the USO, Galion Boy Scouts, Galion Girl Scouts, Galion Youth Center and the Galion Nursery school.

BOARD SAYS IT CAN'T HELP

Turns Down Request of Band Parents' Club For Funds.

While assuring the band's backers that the athletic board is interested in the welfare of the band, Arlin said financial commitments of the athletic board prevented any assistance this year and probably next year.

"The coaches asked us for a total budget of $19,000 this year. We had to cut that to $16,000, for all sports. Add to that our stadium debt of $12500 and amusement taxes of $6000 and it equals or exceeds our expected revenue of $34,000 this year," Arlin said.

"Before we can help you we must meet our current obligations. Next year we may not have as good a season as this one, since it depends to a large extent of getting a sufficiently large schedule of games," Arlin stated.

It was explained that Mansfield is finding it increasingly difficult to induce other schools to play the Tygers because "we're a tough team." It was said that a Lima school and Marion Harding have refused to play Mansfield next year and that there are rumors that Sandusky, dubbed 55 to 2, by the Tygers this year, is considering dropping Mansfield from its schedule.

"Cost of building the stadium is mounting daily and since we are committed to that project we must see it through before taking on any other financial obligations," Arlin pointed out.

After the meeting with the band club, the athletic board met in caucus session to discuss the feasibility of some program in which the public can aid in completing the stadium at an early date.

Armless Vet Shuns Help For Self; His Joy Comes In Helping Others

By NITA BRANSON

Edward Terry, nephew of Mrs. John Graf, 116 West hird street, is one handicapped veteran who is not asking for aid during this week of National Employment for the Physically handicapped. He's giving it.

Terry, visiting with the Grafs during the past weekend, told his story simply and without pretense. He was in the path of the explosion of a defective shell at Camp Beale, Calif., in November, 1943. He lost both arms and powder buried itself deeply in his face, yet to hear him tell of the accident, it seemed a casual thing.

He tries to make other handicapped veterans feel just as casual about it. Only last week, he appeared before the national American Legion convention in San Francisco. For months, he has tried to help others like himself by appearing before Legion conventions in numerous states.

As he took his place behind the wheel of his new Oldsmobile yesterday to drive with Mrs. Terry to Peru, Ind., to visit his parents, he had plans for more such appearances. He and Mrs. Terry also plan to visit her parents in Tempe, Ariz.

EDWARD TERRY

FACE SANDPAPERED TO REMOVE POWDER BURNS

Terry remained in hospitals for three years, enduring 21 major operations.

"They sandpapered my face," he related with a smile, "in an effort to get out the imbedded powder. On my upper right eyelid and parts of my face plastic surgery was used."

Though some powder burns still are visible on his face and neck, he is still a handsome lad, now only 21.

In Six Hospitals.

He was treated in six different hospitals. While in the Bushnell General hospital at Brigham City, Utah, he met Mary Louise Zenor, an army nurse. They fell in love, and were married on Oct. 13, 1944. Almost immediately, Mrs. Terry was sent overseas. She remained for a year.

When she came home they got down to the business of new arms and learning to use them. Terry now can do almost everything but dressing and bathing are still difficult, he said. He can drive a car, ride horseback, fish, shave, light a cigaret.

Terry gives Mrs. Terry credit for solving the intricacies of shoe laces.

"She got elastic corset laces, cut them off, died them brown and all I have to do is slide my foot in and out of my shoe," he said, demonstrating.

Plans Law Career.

Next fall, Terry plans to enter Indiana university where he will major in law. Mrs. Terry hopes to be able to do nursing at the university infirmary. If she doesn't, well, there'll be other ways of helping out.

But, just talking to the two and listening to them, you know that the worst is over and while the way ahead may not be all smooth sailing, they'll make it.

Rotary Chief Visits Galion

GALION — Paul V. Brown of Tiffin, governor of the 157th District of Rotary International, made an official visit to the Galion Rotary club, Monday night, and was speaker at the dinner-meeting at the United Brethren church.

Brown, superintendent of schools at Tiffin, spoke on the subject, "A Larger Vision of Rotary—World Wide." He said that Rotary was organized on a basis of helping one another. He outlined the four services of Rotary: club service, vocational, community (which is the most appealing), and international (which is the most necessary).

The program this year will be to implement all of these services in order that members may be more helpful and have a better understanding locally, nationally, and internationally.

Guests of the club Monday night were Edward Thomas, E. R. Myers and Robert Oberlander, all of Tiffin, and Ralph Livingston, Galion.

BLUE TRIS MEET

Senior and Junior Blue Tri clubs held business meetings at the YWCA last night at which their respective presidents, Janell Leonard, and Betty DeLaney, presided.

Republican Leaders Disagree on Justice of Nazi War Crimes Trials

DEWEY THINKS VERDICTS BY TRIBUNAL FAIR

New York Governor, Senator Taft of Ohio Express Opposite Views.

(By Associated Press)

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, potential rivals for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination, split sharply today over the Nazi war crimes trials.

As Democrats kept up their attacks on Taft's criticism of the Nuernberg verdicts, Dewey touched off the GOP leadership clash in New York last night when he came out bluntly in opposition to the Ohio senator's views.

Without mentioning Taft by name, Dewey defended the fairness of the trials and declared that "no one can have any sympathy for these Nazi leaders who brought such agony upon the world."

In Washington, Democrats who have experienced their own intra-party troubles of late, gleefully hailed the Taft-Dewey cleavage as likely to lessen the emphasis on the recent foreign policy schism between then Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace and Secretary of State James F. Byrnes.

Lucas Raps Taft.

Senator Lucas (D-Ill), describing Taft's stand as a "classical example of his muddled and confused thinking," predicted in a statement that Carroll Reece, chairman of the Republican national committee, "will not permit the senator to make any more speeches." Lucas added:

"I charge that the senator (Taft) made the statement about the Nuernberg trial solely for political vengeance or advantage. And I predict that this will be a boomerang upon his aspirations for the presidential nomination in '48."

Taft said Saturday that the Nuernberg verdicts, condemning 12 top Nazis to death, were a miscarriage of justice and "violate that fundamental principle of American" law that a man cannot be tried under a law enacted after the alleged offense was committed

Dewey's statement, in which he was joined by Irving M. Ives, GOP nominee for U. S. senator in New York, declared flatly that the German was crimanals had "fair trial."

In Detroit, Taft said he did "not care to comment pending fuller study" of the Dewey-Ives and other statements.

Taft's Democratic colleague from Ohio, Senator James W. Huffman, also took exception to Taft's Nuernberg criticisms, declaring in a campaign speech last night at Marion, O:

"Even if justified, they should have been offered when the international tribunals were being set up."

In Washington, Senator Pepper (D-Fla) said he was "shocked" by Taft's stand.

In New York, Jack Kroll, director of the CIO Political Action committee, told newsmen Taft's statement was "right in line with Bob Taft's record Bob Taft has never recanted his isolationism."

HER HUSBAND RODE on an esoteric plane while her feet were on the ground, claimed Mrs. Helen Sanford (left) former Broadway actress, shown with her daughter, Helen Clive Goldieck, as she appeared in a Los Angeles court in quest of a divorce. Sanford was described as considering himself spiritually above mundane affairs. (International).

ATTEND RURAL YOUTH MEET

3 From Area Report on West Virginia Conference.

Three Mansfield area youths were back home today after attending the national conference of the Rural Youth of the U. S. A. at Jackson Mill 4-H club camp, near Weston, W. Va., over the week-end.

One of the youths, Tom Wiley, Ashland, R. D. 1, was elected president of the organization. Wiley represented the University Grange of Ohio State university where he is a student.

Representing Richland county's Senior 4-H club were Richard Wolford, Mansfield, R. D. 2, and David Maxwell, Shiloh, R. D 2.

Wolford and Maxwell will report the accomplishments of the conference to the Senior 4-H club when it meets at the home of Donna Will, Shelby, Tuesday at 8 p. m.

Purpose of the Rural Youth of the U. S A is to promote effective intercultural, interdenominational, interracial, and international relations as well as to create and extend higher standards of living throughout local communities It is also an attempt to foster the federation of rural young people's clubs and agencies which have various programs of their own.

Speakers at the conference included prominent representatives of the Farm Security administration, the National Education association, the youth extension service of Cornell university and the Grange.

Hospital Bureau Fills Gap In Incomes of Ill Persons

(Editor's Note. Here's another in the series of stories on the work of Mansfield agencies which receive help from the Community Fund.)

* * *

Mansfielders, whose incomes cannot stretch for medical treatment, receive the same attention as those who can afford it through the Hospital bureau.

Frank E. Berkey, member of the bureau's board, has seen how the Red Feather agency works during his three years of service with the agency.

"The Hospital bureau does not deal with indigent cases. It takes care of only those cases in which incomes are insufficient to meet the cost of hospital bills," Berkey said.

"Such cases as these may be reported by the hospital, by the doctor, through the Community Fund or by the persons seeking assistance in treatment themselves.

"The cases are then turned over immediately to Mrs Verla Becker, case investigator, who reports her findings to the board," Berkey continued. "If the board decides the person is needful of help, the Community Fund pays the bills."

Last year 283 cases were investigated by Mrs. Becker. Of these 97 cases were paid by the bureau and 1,271 patient days were taken care of. Seventeen of the cases were referred to other agencies, and 10 were rejected because of sufficient incomes. The remainder of the cases, decided as indigent, were paid by the city.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1946

Don't blame the Russians for not "understanding" democracy—some Americans are having the same trouble.

The World Series comes at just the right time to provide a short breathing spell between strikes that are almost settled and those that are to come next.

Once upon a time a meat market hit upon the motto displayed on its sign: "If Better Meat Could Be Bought We Would Buy It"—now the sign has been modernized by pasting a piece of paper over the word "Better."

School Children As Traffic Victims

MANSFIELD'S schools opened just a little more than a month ago. With the opening came a warning from Chief of Police Meade K. Bates and other safety-minded civic leaders that motorists should take extra precautions to guard against injury to children on the streets.

Last weekend, however, came news that the tenth child had been injured by an automobile since school began.

Ten little boys and girls suffered pain, fright, mental anguish that might have been avoided if they, or the driver behind a wheel, had learned better the lesson of safety.

Frend Boals, traffic director, has tried for years to teach that lesson in the schools. His work has shown excellent results and promises additional results in the future.

In addition to his success with the safety program in the schools, Boals has found himself working more and more with traffic problems elsewhere in the city. There, too, he has seemed to do an effective job.

All of which raises the question of where his efforts might be more effective—teaching safety in the schools or trying to devise some plan whereby motorists may drive more rapidly along downtown crowded streets. It seems highly improbable that one man can do justice to both jobs.

School officials are high in praise of the safety work Boals is doing in the schools. Their big worry seems to be that he may be given so many other traffic duties that he doesn't have enough time to do the job that should be done in the schools.

Probably they have a point when they argue that someone else well might be assigned to supervise downtown traffic and Boals be permitted to devote his major effort to the schools.

Farm Prices Dangerously High

THAT FAMILIAR warning, "Travel at your own risk," might now be made to include, "Buy at your own risk," insofar as farm land is concerned, according to an article by Ray Yarnell, editor of Capper's Farmer, a widely read farm publication.

Pointing out that land prices are now 71 per cent above the 1935-39 level, Mr. Yarnell advises: "Remember what happened to the buyers of land at high prices after World War I. Disaster hit them in the early thirties when they couldn't meet their mortgage obligations. That tragedy should not be permitted to happen again."

Many farms, it appears, are now mortgaged for an amount higher than the sales price of the land five years ago, which creates a dangerous situation not only for the farmers who are thus burdened by debt but also for the loaning agencies, some of which have been making loans far above the level of soundness, both on farm and city property.

While it may be doubted that warnings will be effective in preventing some persons from pursuing a course toward financial disaster, the obligation remains to spread information of this sort to the fullest possible extent, so that there can be no plea of ignorance when the break comes—and it will come, be assured of that.

Nature's Vivid Autumn Colors

IN THE AUTUMN a grown man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of crimson sumac and golden elm leaves. Nowhere in America is there a lovelier land in the fall of the year than the area around Mansfield.

A drive to Mohican State Forest takes the observer along rolling roads that curve through vari-colored grandeur such as no artist could conceive or copy.

Sere corn shocks stand in the fields. A soft blue haze lies on the distant hills. The pines remain a startling green amid the browns, yellows and reds of the turning foliage. Occasionally the bright blue of the gentian or thistle flower accents the landscape.

Nature is daring with her color at this time of year. Poetasters have called it her final fling before the drabness of winter. But it is not exactly that. It is the full bloom of maturity and accomplishment. It is the leisure hour of beauty before Winter's sleep, Spring's awakening and Summer's long days of growth.

Word comes that "blood flowed" in those Hollywood strike clashes, but it is being kept in mind that ketchup gives much the same appearance in pictures.

Some folks consider it news that Frankie Sinatra and his wife are "having trouble" but the real news would be if they weren't.

An optimist is defined as: "A person with a long wishbone and a short memory."

Pearson Answers Queries About 5-Year Friendship-Building Plan

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Many people have written regarding my proposed five-year plan for peace and friendship with Russia—some critical, some appreciative, some wanting more information. This column is an attempt to answer some of the very important points raised in their letters.

Harold Walton, Philadelphia—The idea of a five-year plan for friendship is merely a human approach to a most terribly difficult problem. It is an attempt to head off a drift toward almost certain—if we continue the way we are going. It is an attempt to get two peoples better acquainted, always the best guarantee against war.

This is no panacea or cure-all, but a breathing space of five years in which we can work intensively at friendship and then get our bearings. After every war, people are tired and wounded, their feelings on edge. They don't always have the proper perspective.

If we can get away from war for five years, if we can quit talking about it and really concentrate on making friends with our potential enemy, then maybe we can pave the way for permanent peace.

However, I repeat that this five-year plan for friendship is definitely conditional upon Russia's going along with us 100 per cent. If she won't go along, it is much better to know it right now and prepare for the worst.

Byrnes Is Right.

Harold Preece, Chattanooga, Tenn. — I have known Jimmie Byrnes about 15 years, during which time I have probably disagreed with him more than otherwise. However, I am convinced: 1—That he has grown greatly in stature; and, 2—that, after a lot of patience and so-called appeasement, his policy of firmness with the Soviet government is right.

My proposal of a five-year plan for friendship with the Russian people in no way conflicts with Byrnes. His policy is aimed at the Russian government; the five-year plan is aimed at the Russian people, many of whom do not know what their government is doing.

Byrnes's policy at the moment is negative and preventive. The five-year plan for friendship is positive and constructive. The policemen on your beat may be a fine, conscientious guardian against crime. But when he helps to organize boys' clubs, as so many police do, then he is building constructively against crime at the source.

That is the difference between the policy of firmness and the policy of friendship. Both are sometimes necessary, and Byrnes has been so busy with one he hasn't had time to concentrate on the other.

If Russia goes on the rampage in Turkey, or even threatens to, then Secretary Byrnes will be absolutely right in being firm, and I for one shall back him up.

Russia Needs Funny Papers.

Mrs. William Cone, New York City—I doubt if more than one or two publishers would object to my plan of a Russian radio station and a Russian newspaper in New York to explain the Soviet viewpoint to the American people. This part of the five-year plan, of course, hinges on the Russians' giving us reciprocal privileges in Moscow, and I am afraid we might have more trouble selling the idea to the Russians than to American publishers.

However, think what American publishing ingenuity could do with a newspaper in Moscow! American newsmen could turn out a paper so readable that its circulation would hit every corner of the Soviet. I have always contended that one thing the Soviet system needed was a regular diet of comics.

We've got to show the Russian people that we are not warmongers, but are just as human as they are. If you can laugh with each other, you won't fight each other.

Goodwill Ambassador.

Foree Dennis, Louisville, Ky.—Unquestionably one chief difficulty with any five-year plan for friendship with Russia would be selling it to the Kremlin. So far, the Kremlin has been opposed to anything like this, largely, I suspect, because they are afraid we might undermine their political system.

Communism has been sold on the thesis that it has brought great gains to the Russian people (and, compared to Czarist days, it has); but, when the Russian people see the high standard of living of Americans or even Western Europeans they can hardly believe their eyes.

However, the Byrnes policy of firmness toward Russia has the Kremlin worried, and I believe the top leaders might now be convinced that five years of real friendship would bring lasting gains to Russia. Hitherto, they have figured we would appease—a policy which would permit them to have their cake and eat it too.

Ralph C. Busser, Jr., Philadelphia—My idea in proposing that Henry Wallace go to Russia as U. S. ambassador is because of his probable influence with the Russian people and government.

The men at the top in Russia are going to need a lot of selling on friendship, and Henry Wallace's sincere idealism plus his long-time sympathy for Russia should help. The Russian people, basically most friendly, unfortunately have been so unfairly informed by a government-controlled press that they don't know what the real score is.

Inspect Arms Factories.

Al Cohn, Los Angeles—One of the most important things we have to do to restore harmonious relations with Russia is permit free access to both nations. At present, Russians come and go freely in the United States. They must have passports to enter, but once inside the USA they can go and come as they please. They can count the number of munitions factories we have and the number of plants which are making atomic bombs. They can travel all around the atomic plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn., though they can't go inside it. Neither can American citizens, without very special passes.

On the other hand, one thing that keeps U. S. army-navy officers jittery is the fear of another Pearl Harbor.

They haven't got over the terrible error they made when the Japs caught them cold. They never want to get caught that way again. You can't blame them.

And the thing army-navy officers fear most is a so-called "suit-case blitz" or a long-range atomic attack via the North Pole. This possibility is what makes some army-navy people talk about a preventive war with Russia.

On the other hand, many army officers I know would give Russia the secret of the atomic bomb if the Soviet would permit us free access to their factories and free exchange of information. Each side would then know what the other was doing. So far the Russians haven't been willing to do this. This is extremely significant.

I am not prepared to say whether Bernie Baruch tactics or diplomatic bungling or plain Russian belligerency is the reason. But it's one of the most important points we must iron out if we are to win peace with Russia.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Friday, Oct. 8, 1926.

Brick business block at corner of Glessner and Arthur avenues was nearing completion.

Contract for paving Bahl avenue, East Mansfield, was awarded to Mansfield Asphalt company, on bid of $17,832.66.

Word came from Cleveland of birth of twin daughters to Mr. and Mrs. J. Rowland Brown, former Mansfield residents.

W. W. Tawse was named county chairman for observance of Pharmacy week.

Daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Beard, Stewart avenue.

Large attendance at fair held in Lincoln Heights school house.

Miss Evelyn Selby and Ralph M. Hardy were married by Rev. J. J. Tisdall.

Mrs. James Roundtree, 74, died at her home north of Mansfield.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

E. McFall gathered bushel of walnuts from tree he had planted in Central park in 1874.

Dave Boone Says:

IT SEEMS to me that a little speed in finding and correcting the causes of airplane disasters is needed. Believe it or not, a finding was handed down only last week on a New England crash that happened six months ago. Most people can't even remember that far back.

* * *

Of course, the causes can't always be found overnight but a pretty fair idea of what to do to prevent a similar accident ought to be possible within half a year.

* * *

Most folks are pretty baffled over the reason for the meat shortage but it don't mystify New York's Mayor O'Dwyer in the least. He comes right out and says it is all a giant conspiracy to bring on depression.

I hope Bill don't think just because there was plenty of meat during the depression, that anybody even a Republican—wants it back.

Britain's Great Empire Shrinking

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

THAT was an amazing speech which former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill delivered at the week-end when, as leader of England's conservative party, he painted a gloomy picture of a shrinking British empire.

Churchill was bidding for a continuation of his leadership at a party conference (a leadership which was confirmed with deep-throated cheers), and he was charging the present Socialist government with making grievous mistakes to the detriment of the empire.

Still, it must have been hard for him—the quintessence of British imperialism—to make these admissions.

The famous war-time premier attacked the Socialist government especially on two lines—Palestine and India. He charged that the government was "vacillating without plan or policy" for the Holy Land and was "holding on to a mandate in which they have no vital interest." He declared such a course was 'gaining the distrust and hostility both of Arab and Jew."

It was regarding mighty India, however, that he really let himself go. He accused the Attlee government of so mishandling the situation that "no one can measure the misery and bloodshed which will overtake these enormous masses of humble, helpless millions, or under what new power their future destiny will lie" (this last was a reference to Russia).

Churchill said that the loss of India—and perhaps Burma—"the number of the king's subjects is being reduced to barely a quarter of what it has been for generations." And at the same time Russia has "brought extra scores of millions of people" under the 'despotic control of the Kremlin" and continues to expand in every direction.

Well now, what about this empire which "is being reduced' so sharply—the empire upon which the sun never sets? Whitaker's Almanack (published in London) says:

"The British empire occupies over one-quarter of the known surface of the globe, and its population exceeds one-quarter of the estimated number of the human race." Most of those millions are in India.

Of course Mother England herself made a major imperial change when she conceded the sovereignty of the great dominions Canada, Australia, New Zealand and the Union of South Africa—which became members of the "British commonwealth of nations."

Now the Socialist government in London has offered India this same dominion status, with the same privilege of withdrawing from the commonwealth if she so desires.

The fate of 400,000,000 Indians is involved. If Britain should lose this great sub-continent, the king-emperor would indeed have lost some three quarters of his subjects, as Churchill points out.

Service Station Folks Speak Their Piece.

WASHINGTON — Please, pub-lease, Mrs. Scott and Mr. Fleming. I know I did wrong, but honest, I didn't mean anything by it. I'm just a poor traveling man, trying to get along—and when I burned out that wheel bearing and the right front door finally fell off and the hood wouldn't stay up anymore . . . well, I just sorta got sore at a few service station attendants. That's all.

Probably it wasn't their fault, at all, like you say. But I kinda lost my head and wrote that story saying some nasty things about them. But I was just talking about a few of them, honest. I didn't mean people like you—because, believe me, I've met some fine service station people around over the country this year.

(Note: Apparently, Mrs. Ernestine Scott who runs a service station in Uvalde, Tex., and Mrs. B. Fleming who does likewise, in San Francisco, took exception to the service station story.)

I don't blame you for "boiling over with anger," Mrs. Scott after reading what you wrote me about checking oil for motorists:

"We reach in and burn ourselves on the hot manifold; tell the customer he is in need of oil and are told that this cannot be so—he just bought oil about a thousand miles down the road; we are just trying to sell oil . . ."

But Mrs. Scott, you couldn't be talking about me. My 1938 jalopy won't even go a hundred miles without adding oil—let alone a thousand . . . and sometimes I thought that the boys didn't take the trouble to—oh, I'm sorry, Mr. Fleming, what were you saying?

"Out here we shove the bayonet up near your face and let you see that you are two quarts low and then if you don't buy we think you are not only cheap but you should burn out a bearing!"

But, Mr. Fleming, I always buy oil, and so—what's that you say?

"We also stick our finger in your crummy car radiator and show you a sample of your ten-year collection of goo and suggest you have it flushed . . ."

Tsk, tsk, Mr. Fleming! You've been peeking. Isn't even a man's radiator private any more? What? How's that again, Mrs. Scott?

"We get the radiator cap off without scalding anyone, we give the gas, oil and water service, wipe the windshield, air the tires, check the battery sweep out the floor, and while all this adds to the water bill, the electric bill, adds wear and tear to the chamois (and have you ever asked what a chamois costs?), the customer climbs in, drives off without so much as a thank you!"

Uh, oh, well, that is—no, no, I never asked how much a chamois costs . . . oh, pardon me. Go right ahead, Mrs. Scott:

"And the rest rooms: Why cannot people leave rest rooms as clean as they find them? Those people who abuse rest rooms I would like to put in public stocks. Hanging is too good for them."

Yes, Maam! But don't confuse me with Kilroy, Mrs. Scott. Besides, Mr. Fleming has something to say:

"As you explain about the 'grease job' you make my blood run cold. You don't ever 'grease' a car. You 'lubricate' it. It serves you right if you did burn out a bearing because you should have asked the attendant to check your wheel bearings!"

I agree with you, Mr. Fleming, when you point out that everybody who gives service nowadays seems to get tipped—except for the service station attendants, and they certainly deserve it.

But the one time I tried to tip one this summer, he almost knocked my head off. Thought I was being patronizing.

And I agree with you, Mrs. Scott that members of the traveling public "should show some part of the courtesy they seem to think is due them."

Furthermore, I promise not to write any more nasty stories about service station attendants without at least telling some of their many good points. And finally, I'd like to accept both of your kind invitations to visit your service stations.

But—now wait a minute? I'm not trying to start anything, honest, and this isn't a nasty crack—but now, my car won't run.

Rampant Radicalism Found In Northwest.

SEATTLE — Still thriving out here in this northwest corner of the country is a rampant radicalism that once was characteristic, but no longer, of sections farther east, Wisconsin, Minnesota and the Dakotas.

It is virile and lusty and often rough in its methods.

Such radicalism, compounded as it is of leftist labor with a communist infiltration, is a heritage from the IWW of old. It has allied itself with the Democratic party. As usual, it has its counterpart in the extreme conservatism of entrenched interests, still claiming a sort of pioneer squatter sovereignty, in many cases with their roots in the east. That is allied with the Republican party.

Between these two belligerent extremes, there are lots of people—orthodox New Deal Democrats, old-fashioned Democrats, liberal Republicans, independents.

It will be what these people do in the forthcoming congressional election that will determine the result.

On one side is the New Deal philosophy which advocates large use of federal funds not only for public power and irrigation projects, already well under way, but also to help finance, through RFC and other federal agencies, the retention of left-over war industries and the creation of new industries in the absence, thus far, of any effective private local financing. Political action is envisaged as the avenue to achieve this result.

This philosophy is best represented in the state-wide campaign for re-election as U. S. senator mild-mannered, 39-year-old Hugh B. Mitchell, Democrat. He has the energetic support of the state Democratic machine, directed by Gov. Mon C. Wallgren. Mitchell was appointed to the senate by Mr. Wallgren when he was elected governor two years ago and resigned from the senate. Governor Wallgren and President Truman are close friends.

On the other side there is a mixed picture. Generally Republicans go along, as far as most leaders and rank and file are concerned, with public power and irrigation. There is some slight variation here and there as to the extent of federal and local control. Republicans publicly do not make an issue on this general program. It is a sort of fait accompli, and some of them greatly benefit from its by-products.

But, throwing in heavily behind the Republicans in this election, are interests with really big stakes.

These include private power interests, largely eastern-controlled, which look askance at the gradual extension of public power in this area, to which the war gave a great impetus.

Eastern-controlled industries of other sorts do not relish the competition of new industries here.

This diversity of interests behind the Republican ticket probably explains the talking from both sides of his mouth by the party's alert candidate for the senate, 40-year-old Harry P. Cain. Twice the non-partisan mayor of Tacoma, he is a war veteran who had a widely varied experience with the American military government in Europe that gave him a rather far-sighted view of world problems.

He is a much better campaigner than Senator Mitchell, and is one of those wiry, tireless fellows who refuse to give up. He ran a strong race two years ago in absentia.

In the showdown, the result in the senatorial race will depend upon Democratic success in getting out its labor vote.

Scandinavians Doubt United Nations Unity.

COPENHAGEN — On Oct. 20, representatives of the three Scandinavian countries will board a plane of the new Scandinavian Airlines system to attend the United Nations general assembly session in New York.

It is a measure of what has happened during the past six months that they will leave with something less than enthusiasm. The attitude toward the United Nations here in the north is one of troubled doubt in which a little hope still lingers.

Along with Europeans everywhere, the Scandinavians are listening to the savage political debate between the USA and the USSR with profound misgivings.

This is coupled with a kind of unspoken resentment at being forced to choose sides in a struggle which seems certain to end in doom for all concerned.

There is a strong compulsion in the three countries, although it is by no means unanimous, to stand together as a Scandinavian bloc.

Working against unity is the fact that Norway and Denmark endured the scarifying ordeal of German occupation while the Swedes escaped unscathed and were even able to do certain types of construction which gives them a lead in competition for world trade.

It is not easy to forgive your neighbor both good luck and good management, particularly if he tends to congratulate himself on his good fortune.

The Norwegians and the Danes suffered deeply under five years of Nazi oppression, although the scars are not so obvious since the physical destruction in the cities was so much less than that in the rest of Europe.

The scars are in part psychological. During the war, one of the most effective forms of Danish sabotage was the slow-down. The clever Danes mastered the techniques of delay and distraction. Now it's hard to get back to constructive effort, and the carry-over of the slowdown into peace is one reason for the manifold difficulties of reconstruction.

There is evidence that the Danish people are recovering their perspective. An unfavorable trade balance with Great Britain restricts imports and is one reason why Denmark exports food to England at a price considerably under that which could be obtained on the world market. Yet when the British sent eight tons of roller skates — to a country needing almost everything—the Danes laughed long and loud.

The newspapers have for some time been making jokes about those roller skates. Every patriotic Dane must prove that he can roller-skate in his country's hour of need, said one editorial.

Even the passing visitor detects currents of sanity that lead away from the frustrations of the past. A group of younger men and women, most of them out of the resistance movement, have taken one of the underground newspapers, Information, and have made of it a focus for those who believe Europe can escape the old political dogmatisms. Vigorously they challenge the isms that seem to predetermine past, present and future.

Let no one discount the force of Soviet propaganda. The Soviet theme in Europe is that "reactionary elements" in the USA are now dominant and seek to destroy the "progressive" force of the USSR. This tends to underscore the negative aspects of American policy.

The danger in this is great. We should not delude ourselves. If we force a show-down, we cannot be sure that those who now are our friends will declare themselves on our side.

Farmer's Diary

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

UNION GRANGE

ONE EVENING last week I attended a Grange celebration north 20 miles from my home. It was a foggy, drizzly night. Arriving somewhat early, I found the Grange hall dark and cold. Driving on perhaps 200 feet, I waited through intermittent showers for the first arrival. Presently a car drove up, and immediately lights were on, and a big reflector gleamed from the front gable of the roof.

Surely, I thought, on such a night the people will not turn out. But cars kept coming until the number reached more than 150, of all ages. There was informal jolly visiting, and an atmosphere of fine rural comradeship.

When the program began, each official knew his position and his part. The silence during opening prayer gave evidence of deep devotion. The national anthem was sung. The national flag saluted. Not just a form, it seemed, but a spirit of pride and thankfulness ran through the service.

Many of the original members were present who helped to found this Grange and build the hall, 40 years ago. They had planned the building and labored to saw the lumber from the nearby woods.

Not only adults, but young folks from 14 to 25 are members of this group. Socials, plays and music for all young people of the neighborhood are a part of the plan. The hall is a community center—and has been for 40 years.

The Patrons of Husbandry, or the National Grange, is a secret order, of and for farmers, founded at Washington, D. C., Dec. 4, 1867. Chief founder was Oliver Hudson Kelley, a Maine farmer in the south. "To unite the better rural classes for the nobler purposes of agriculture", he advocated the establishment of this society.

The Grange is a nonpolitical order, and makes its appeals to legislatures and to congress in the interest of agriculture, in a spirit of fairness, and for the common good. Our part of the state is liberally sprinkled with Grange halls, many of them excellently outfitted for community service.

Mansfielders Fill Cellars With Their Garden Harvest

It won't be long until killing frosts wilt gardens and endanger vegetables left on the vines, so Mansfielders are getting ready to store their squashes, beets, and carrots in the basement and prepare their gardens for winter.

Root crops such as carrots and beets can be left in the ground until freezing weather threatens, but squashes, tomatoes, beans, and other tender vegetables must be brought inside before long, the National Garden Institute warns.

Unripened tomatoes are frequently used for pickles, but they can be saved and used for the table if properly cared for, the Institute said.

The tomatoes will ripen if placed in a sunny window or wrapped separately in paper and stored for a few days in a moderately cool place. Sometimes the gardener pulls up the entire vine the fruit on it and hangs it in the basement until the tomatoes ripen.

Here are some harvest tips offered by the Garden Institute:

Celery may be stored in dry pits or trenches and covered with a foot of straw and weighted down with boards, or they may be stored in a cool room with their roots in moist sand. A little light is preferable to a dark storage cellar.

A good inch of stem should be left on carrots, beets, turnips, rutabagas and onions when harvesting for storage.

Root crops and cabbages keep best in moist atmospheres.

Onions dislike humidity and must be kept dry.

Where to store root crops:

1. In a cool, ventilated cellar or storage room.
2. In a garge, if heated, or until freezing weather arrives.
3. In a cellar window-well.
4. In a straw-lined pit in the ground and covered with dirt.
5. In barrels, boxes or cans sunk into the ground and covered with a foot of soil.

Leave in ground: Parsnips and salsify (oyster plant) may be left in the ground all winter—in fact the flavor is improved by freezing. All members of the cabbage family will stand a good deal of frost. Broccoli will keep on bearing until late autumn, so will Brussels sprouts. Cabbage and cauliflower are frost resistant. But cabbage should be stored in a cool place after real freezing weather comes.

Temple Emanuel Sisterhood Hears Dr. R. S. Hartman

PEOPLE have three basic qualities, physical, mental and spiritual, which if any one is lost the whole world goes wrong," stated Dr. Robert S. Hartman when he addressed members of the Temple Emanuel Sisterhood on the Future of Europe yesterday afternoon. The Loyalty day luncheon was held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Dr. Hartman at present a member of the department of philosophy of Wooster college, was an associate of the inventor of the rocket bomb and together they demonstrated the rocket to members of the English government as an instrument of sending mail. The scheme was rejected as impractical and the rocket principles developed by the Nazi party for war use.

According to Dr. Hartman the future of Europe and the world depends upon the use of the rocket. "Our salvation depends upon whether or not our technological knowledge matches our knowledge of humanity—whether there is heart in science."

He also stated his belief that if any one cause can be claimed for the loss of morality in Europe and present day conditions, it is the passive attitude of the good people and influences while evil was active.

He pointed out that the Nazi movement was an anti-spiritual rebellion.

Dr. Hartman was introduced by Mrs. M. Broworsky, program chairman, following a musical program by Mrs. F. P. Walter, violinist, and Mrs. George Hall, pianist.

Mrs. B. W. Stern gave the prayer and Mrs. Sam Lockshin reviewed the principles and ideals of the National Federation of Sisterhoods.

Hostesses for the luncheon were Mrs. I. Gold, Mrs. R. Gerth, Mrs. J. Tuber, Mrs. J. Bein, Mrs. O. J. Marcus, and Mrs. S. Fox.

Oct. 22 there will be a card party at the home of Mrs. S. Doppelt, Shepard road, with Mrs. J. Rosenberg, associate hostess.

Mr., Mrs. William M. Weldon Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

LAST EVENING, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Weldon, 55 Marion avenue, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in the home in which their reception was held following the wedding ceremony in the First Congregational church half a century ago.

Gold chrysanthemums and roses decorated the home. The dinner table was arranged with gold candelabra and a centerpiece of yellow roses with side bouquets of white pompons linked with streamers of green huckleberry.

Mr. and Mrs. William Weldon, jr., were host and hostess at the dinner which was announced as the strains of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" were heard. Mr. Weldon, jr., read an account of his parents' wedding which had been taken from the Mansfield News of 50 years ago.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. J. V. Eliot, a daughter, of Pasadena, Calif, Miss Florence Grant, Zanesville, who served as bridesmaid, Mrs. J. J. Siddall, Glencoe, Ill., maid of honor, and Gen. Frank Lahm of Cleveland. James Dickson of this city served as best man and also attended.

Dorothy Kilgallen—

Miss Midnight's Notebook Gotham Scenery: Small, quiet man with a shy smile bowing in reticent fashion to the biggest hand ever given a celebrity at the Carnival—Gen. Jimmy Doolittle, in civvies. . . . Basil Rathbone elegantly devouring roast beef at Bob Olin's at 11 in the morning. . . . Handsome, platinum-haired Ed Stettinius panicking the fashionable lasses in the Ritz Carlton Ladies' bar. . . . Gertrude Niesen, week-ending in Gotham, undulating into Lindy's in a strapless, backless, tummyless dress. (The OPA must love her!) . . . Sister Kenny thrilling to the New York panorama from a Fifth avenue bustop. . . . Peggy Hopkins Joyce telling the regulars at Armando's that she'll be a free femme soon—her number five groom is getting the divorce. . . . Fine and Danny—Sylvia and her devoted spouse, the talented Mr. Kaye—spending a few hours of their between-films lark at Monte's-on-the-Park. . . . Joan Bennet, wide-eyed and winning in an autumn baby-cap, dining with husband Walter Wanger at the Colony.

* * *

Times Square Cuff Notes: Greta Garbo will play the Divine Sarah in the screen version of the Life of Bernhardt. . . . Jackie Gleason and Lynn Hogan, inseparable for weeks, have finally called it off. . . . Russians will next charge the United States with plotting to overthrow" three Central and South American countries. . . . Gypsy Rose Lee has dropped her plans for an exclusive East Side nitery. . . . John Howard, the tennis pro, flew back to N. Y. from Hollywood—reportedly after receiving a love call from Diana Barrymore. . . . "Of Human Bondage" is scheduled to be staged on Broadway with Jacques Chambrun as producer and Somerset Maugham as author of the play version.

Carryings-on In the Cafes: Enchanting conversationalist Mike Romanoff has been covering the Manhattan bistro situation thoroughly in the past few evenings—all the way from Leon & Eddie's to the Colony bar . . . The stop at L & E's was more on the loyal than the royal side, for Messrs. Enken and Davis befriended the now affluent restaurateur when the world and headlines were against him, and gave him a job as day manager of their boite . . . Palmists in local cafes report an enormous postwar boost in business, logically attributable to the general confusion and everybody's yen to know what's cookin'. Diana, the chirognomist (paw reader, to you) at the 1-2-3, has to double her working hours, and for an appointment with her, customers have to call two days in advance.
